Presidential Order Ends Akron Rubber Strike

UNION SENDS 49,000 WORKERS BACK TO JOBS

Strongly Worded Edict By President Has Sudden Effect

WALKOUT DRAWS FIRE Executive Declares Work Stoppage Violation Of Labor's Pledge

AKRON, O., May 27—Akron's paralyzing rubber strike ended today.

Acting swiftly after receiving an ultimatum from President Roosevelt in which he termed the five-day strike "inexcusable", officers of three locals of the CIO-United Rubber Workers Union joined with the organization's executive board to order 49,000 production employees back to their jobs.

The strike, projected when employees of the industry's three major companies protested a War Labor Board wage decision, had tied up synthetic rubber production in plants capable of turning out 40,000 tons annually. It also halted manufacture of gas masks, airplane de-icers, combat tires and scores of other rubber products used in the war.

Union leaders promised no delay in placing the plants on a full production schedule. They said 10,000 workers reported at 6 a. m. for the first day shift and that all plants would be returned to normal by 10 p. m. tonight.

President Acts
Taking cognizance of the threat to the nation's war effort which the strike constituted, President Roosevelt in a strongly-worded ultimatum told the unionists the government would take any necessary steps to protect the national welfare.

The chief executive, terming the stoppages a "flagrant violation of the no-strike pledge," said they "can not be permitted to continue any longer" adding:
"Therefore as commander in chief of the army and navy, I direct all picketing to cease and all employees now on strike at the rubber plants to work at once. . . . If this strike is not ended by 12 (Continued on Page Four)

BLAST IN PARIS WRITES FINIS FOR 60 HUNS

NEW YORK, May 27—The Dakar patriots set off an explosion which killed 60 Germans in Paris near the Bois de Boulogne. The broadcast, picked up by CBS, also quoted the French newspaper Petit Nicolas as warning civilians living in coastal zones of southern France to move inland while there was still time. "In the event of an Allied landing, nobody will be allowed to take refuge in the interior," the paper said.

Chaos Seen If New Tax Plan Fails

Democratic Leaders Say Veto Or Defeat Would Invite Inflation

WASHINGTON, May 27—Democratic tax leaders today warned that a Presidential veto or congressional rejection of the conference agreement on pay-as-you-go taxation would create tax chaos and invite inflation.

A direct appeal to President Roosevelt to approve the bill was possible, with leaders in both the senate and house predicting that the measure will be laid on the White House doorstep next week. "I don't see how we can contemplate the inflation picture except to regard it as necessary to put in the 20 percent withholding tax, which the President and the treasury wanted," said Sen. Walter F. George (D) Ga., chairman of the senate finance committee.

While some senators expected Mr. Roosevelt to sign the bill, it was authoritatively reported that one or more advisers were counseling him to veto it.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan

Well we are having a little flurry of "unauthorized" strikes and the War Labor Board keeps frowning and muttering about "labor's no strike pledge" as if there was such a thing.

And of course there wasn't or isn't.

Labor is millions or individuals working at millions of tasks in this country and no plebiscite ever has been held on the question of whether or not they would waive the right to strike.

What happened was that old Bill Green and Phil Murray dropped around to the White House, about the time heat was on for legislation to curb strikes, and delivered what is referred to as "labor's no strike pledge."

Old Bill and Phil haven't struck yet, they're still on the job and about the only persons they could bind by their pledge was themselves.

As for binding their big sprawling unions and their union members who think for themselves, it was ambitious on their part and stupid on anyone else's part to think they could do it.

We are now fighting a couple of guys who specialized in doing the thinking for their people.

Thought for the day: Better call it the "two-man no strike pledge."

"MISSION" FILM DRAWS FIRE OF STATE LEGION

COLUMBUS, O., May 27—The film "Mission to Moscow" was condemned today by the executive committee of the Ohio American Legion as "totalitarian propaganda for mass consumption."

Although stressing that "it is desirable in the present emergency that a spirit of cooperation exist between Soviet Russia and the United States," the executive committee called upon Legion National headquarters to "do everything in your power to offset the damage to Americanism being done by the use of this film."

OFFICES CLOSE MONDAY

All county offices in the courthouse will be closed Monday in observance of Memorial Day, banks and many business houses following the same plan. Federal offices, including Selective Service and Farm Security offices, will remain open. The rationing office, West High street, is also to remain in operation during the holiday.

Allied Strategy Plan To Knock Italy Out Of War Gets Into Stride

WASHINGTON, May 27—An Anglo-American strategy plan designed to eliminate Italy from effective participation in the war by Fall today is believed to be getting under full swing.

Diplomatic speculation in Washington foresees this plan involving an intensification of the aerial war against Italy coupled with a psychological short-wave radio drive to encourage the Italian people to overthrow Premier Benito Mussolini and his Fascists.

When these two persuasive weapons of modern warfare have succeeded in softening up Italy, it is believed there may be an allied invasion to help the Italian people liberate their country from both the Fascists and the Germans.

The aerial campaign against Italy is seen assuming the form of honeyed words as well as death and destruction. While tons of high explosives provide what British Prime Minister Winston Churchill described as a physical stimulus, the Allied short-wave radio broadcasts will tell the Italian people that their salvation lies in getting rid of Mussolini and helping liberate Italy.

It already is being made clear to the Italian people that they can overthrow the Fascists and help liberate Italy. (Continued on Page Four)

DAVIES RECEIVES STALIN'S REPLY TO F.D.R. LETTER

MOSCOW, May 27—Premier Joseph Stalin's reply to a secret letter from President Roosevelt was handed last night to Joseph E. Davies, the President's special envoy, Davies disclosed today.

The reply of the Soviet marshal was contained in a sealed letter given to Davies, former ambassador to Moscow, by Stalin himself in the second meeting between the two men since Davies was dispatched from Washington.

"I am leaving for home immediately," Davies told newsmen.

The contents of the letter, presented to Davies in the presence of Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov, are "exclusively for the President," said Davies.

He said he could make no comment "directly or by inference" on his talks with Stalin. "Nothing could be more kind or fine than the treatment I received from old friends in the Soviet government," Davies added.

MIDWEST TAKES STOCK OF HEAVY FLOOD DAMAGE

Thousands Of Families Streaming Back To Reclaim Land

VICTIMS SEEKING HELP Representatives Of Hard Hit States Gather To Outline Needs

By International News Service

With the danger from high water passing, six Midwest states today took stock of the vast damage from one of the greatest floods in almost a century in some areas and started on the task of rebuilding and replanting to deliver the huge wartime food order for the nation.

Thousands of farm families began to stream back to their homes, as high water that inundated millions of acres of lowlands, receded, and looked for ways and means to reclaim the rich bottom land for production.

Representatives from the six flood-stricken states of Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Arkansas met in St. Louis, Mo., to seek rehabilitation aid from the Red Cross and the Army, loans from the Disaster Loan Corporation set up during the Ohio river flood of 1937, larger quotas on farm machinery, early maturing seed and farm manpower.

Pleads For Help
One of the delegates at the St. Louis conference, Gov. Henry F. Schricker of Indiana, made a strong plea for labor to plow the flooded areas.

In Washington, U. S. Sen. Scott W. Lucas (D. Ill.) said he would ask congress to speed legislation making $55,000,000 available for flood relief and control. The Illinois legislature, meanwhile, considered appropriations totaling $1,500,000 for flood repair work.

The only flood menace remaining today was in the area from St. Louis south to Cape Girardeau, Mo.

One huge war plant at Wolf Lake, Ill., was forced to suspend operations because of the high water and several other factories along the Mississippi river danger area were threatened.

MACARTHUR AND EISENHOWER NOW BRITISH KNIGHTS

LONDON, May 27—America's two top-ranking generals in the field, Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, were honored today by King George VI who appointed them honorary knights, Grand Cross of the Order of The Bath.

Gen. MacArthur, supreme commander of Allied forces in the southwest Pacific, and Gen. Eisenhower, chief of Allied forces in North Africa, received the awards in recognition of "most valuable services in the command of troops of the Allied nations."

The only other United States military commander so honored is Gen. John J. Pershing who was appointed an honorary knight by King George VI in 1918.

Such appointments to British recipients carries with it the title of "sir," but in the case of nationals of Allied countries this does not apply.

Germans In Dilemma With Vital Factories Crippled Or Destroyed

LONDON, May 27—Many important Nazi war plants have been totally destroyed and numerous other industries crippled in France and Germany as a result of the devastating cycle of the saturation raids by the Royal Air Force and the United States Eighth Air Force, the Ministry of Economic Warfare said today.

Nazi production has suffered particularly severe setbacks from the two most recent bombardments, that early yesterday against Düsseldorf in the Rhineland and the raid in the small hours of Monday on Dortmund, 40 miles to the east in the Ruhr valley. Conditions at Duisburg, at the confluence of the Rhine and the Ruhr, also are understood to be chaotic.

"The Germans are in a dilemma," said an economic warfare ministry spokesman.

Factories Hard Hit
"Apart from the gigantic destruction in the Ruhr, the Rouen locomotive works have been completely destroyed. Rouen, in France, has been particularly hard hit by Flying Fortresses of the Eighth U. S. Air Force based in Britain.

The Renault automotive and airplane works at Billancourt, on the outskirts of Paris, have been so severely battered by the Americans that they are not worth repairing, the spokesman said.

The ministry of economic warfare also disclosed that Flying Fortress raids on production centers in the German port of Bremen had halted work in the Focke-Wulf aircraft factory for at least a month.

Dusseldorf Paralyzed
The air ministry, is summing up the concentrated assault on Dusseldorf said it would not be surprising if final results of the attack show that the city has been thoroughly paralyzed. This announcement came following receipt of reports from neutral quarters quoting Nazi Economic Minister Dr. Walter Funk as admitting that Dortmund and Duisburg, as well as other industrial towns, now are idle as far as production of munitions is concerned.

Those industries which can be moved, reports from the continent indicate, are being transferred further east away from centers which have proved easy to attack. According to some accounts the Nazis have shifted plane plants to Yugoslavia and parts of Austria. A Swiss engineer, just returned to Geneva, witnessed the May 12 raid by the RAF on Duisburg, according to a dispatch to the Daily Express.

City Destroyed
"I should never have believed a large town could be so utterly destroyed in a few minutes," he was quoted as saying.

After the raid, he said, there was not a building standing anywhere in the target area.

"Everything was simply flattened," he continued.

"Fire services were completely disorganized. . . nothing could be done except to watch the fires. Everybody seemed stunned and there were complete inertia."

"When day came the fires seemed to be getting stronger hold. Food could not be got anywhere. Medical necessities from outside failed to arrive on time."

The engineer said that a week after the raid municipal services still had not begun to function normally.

HOLLYWOOD, May 27—Thirteen men from the skating troupe of Film Star Sonja Henie soon will be serving with the U. S. ski patrol.

Eleven already have reported, the blonde actress revealed today, and the remaining pair will go on the completion of her picture, "Wintertime."

Last to leave, Miss Henie said, are her own ice partners, Geary Steffen and Buford McCusker.

Steffen is the son of former lightweight boxing champion, Willie Ritchie.

Both men expect assignments with ski units at Camp Hale.

JAPS REPORTED MASSING

American Casualty Total For North Africa Set At 18,558

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, May 27—The navy announced today that an American warship bombarded Japanese installations near Attu village, enabling hard fighting American ground troops to seize high ground south of Chichagof harbor.

"A U. S. naval vessel bombarded Japanese shore installations in the Chichagof area and started numerous fires," the navy said.

American heavy and medium bombers also supported crack American ground troops which are pressing against the final Japanese positions on Attu.

Meanwhile, U. S. army fighter planes bombed the main Japanese camp area on Kiska, 200 miles east of Attu.

The naval bombardment enabled U. S. troops to gain an important foothold south of Chichagof harbor, where one of the two remaining Jap forces is entrenched.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, May 27—Secretary of War Stimson reported today that American casualties in the entire North African campaign totaled 18,558 dead, wounded and missing.

The total of United Nations casualties in North Africa, exclusive of the Egyptian and Libyan campaigns, was fixed at 70,000, while the axis casualty list totaled 323,000.

Breaking down the casualty list from November 8 through May 15, Stimson said the United States lost 2,184 killed, 9,347 wounded and 6,937 missing in action, the latter presumably being prisoners of war.

Devastating new aerial assaults on Italian island outposts in the Mediterranean and attacks on Axis shipping off Southern Greece were announced today in allied communiques as an unconfirmed German report told of a battle between light naval forces off the coast of Holland.

From the Southwest Pacific came a report that the Japanese had massed hundreds of planes and 250,000 troops in the arc of enemy outposts north and west of Australia.

CROSBY'S TURF CLUB TO BECOME AIRPLANE PLANT

LOS ANGELES, May 27—Bing Crosby's Del Mar Turf Club is to be converted into a warplane parts manufacturing plant, spokesmen revealed today.

Transformation from one of the nation's well-known race tracks to a vital war industry will begin almost immediately. Actual production "is expected to get underway within a few weeks," officials said.

The million dollar racing plant, which functioned successfully from 1937 to 1941 will operate under the name of the Del Mar Turf Club, Aircraft Division.

The racing layout, recognized as one of the most picturesque in the world, faces the Pacific ocean about 90 miles south of Los Angeles.

Crosby will serve as president of the new venture. Other officials include Pat O'Brien, the actor, vice-president; Charles S. Howard, Seabiscuit's owner, director; Kent Allen, general counsel and secretary, and Fred Poggi, manager of the aircraft factory.

The Japanese today observed their national navy day with far less to shout about than Nipponese warlords had promised the public.

Last year Tokyo made all manner of prophecies on how they would crush Australia, America and Britain with new victories which never came.

Today, according to the Office of War Information, the Japanese consoled themselves in reminiscing about the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941 and the victory over Russia 38 years ago when Port Arthur surrendered on January 2, 1905.

No mention, naturally, was made of what transpired during the last year at Guadalcanal, in the Coral Sea and at Midway where Jap forces were trounced.

JAP NAVY DAY NOT TOO HAPPY

Nips Have Little To Shout About Since Leaders' Promises Fail

By International News Service
The Japanese today observed their national navy day with far less to shout about than Nipponese warlords had promised the public.

Last year Tokyo made all manner of prophecies on how they would crush Australia, America and Britain with new victories which never came.

Today, according to the Office of War Information, the Japanese consoled themselves in reminiscing about the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor in 1941 and the victory over Russia 38 years ago when Port Arthur surrendered on January 2, 1905.

No mention, naturally, was made of what transpired during the last year at Guadalcanal, in the Coral Sea and at Midway where Jap forces were trounced. Included among the boastful de- (Continued on Page Four)

ALGIERS SCENE SET FOR GIRAUD, DE GAULLE MEET

LONDON, May 27—Gen. Henri Honore Giraud and Gen. Charles DeGaulle will meet tomorrow at Algiers, according to an Algiers radio broadcast reported by Reuters.

The meeting will climax extended preliminary negotiations between Giraud, military and civil administrator of French North Africa, and DeGaulle, leader of the Fighting French.

American Casualty Total For North Africa Set At 18,558

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, May 27 — The navy announced today that an American warship bombarded Japanese installations near Attu village, enabling hard fighting American ground troops to seize high ground south of Chichagof harbor.

"A U. S. naval vessel bombarded Japanese shore installations in the Chichagof area and started numerous fires," the navy said.

American heavy and medium bombers also supported crack American ground troops which are pressing against the final Japanese positions on Attu.

Meanwhile, U. S. army fighter planes bombed the main Japanese camp area on Kiska, 200 miles east of Attu.

The naval bombardment enabled U. S. troops to gain an important foothold south of Chichagof harbor, where one of the two remaining Jap forces is entrenched.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, May 27 — Secretary of War Stimson reported today that American casualties in the entire North African campaign totaled 18,558 dead, wounded and missing.

The total of United Nations casualties in North Africa, exclusive of the Egyptian and Libyan campaigns, was fixed at 70,000, while the axis casualty list totaled 323,000.

Breaking down the casualty list from November 8 through May 15, Stimson said the United States lost 2,184 killed, 9,347 wounded and 6,937 missing in action, the latter presumably being prisoners of war.

Devastating new aerial assaults on Italian island outposts in the Mediterranean and attacks on Axis shipping off Southern Greece were announced today in allied communiques as an unconfirmed German report told of a battle between light naval forces off the coast of Holland.

From the Southwest Pacific came a report that the Japanese had massed hundreds of planes and 250,000 troops in the arc of enemy outposts north and west of Australia.

CROSBY'S TURF CLUB TO BECOME AIRPLANE PLANT

LOS ANGELES, May 27—Bing Crosby's Del Mar Turf Club is to be converted into a warplane parts manufacturing plant, spokesmen revealed today.

Transformation from one of the nation's well-known race tracks to a vital war industry will begin almost immediately. Actual production "is expected to get underway within a few weeks," officials said. The million dollar racing plant, which functioned successfully from 1937 to 1941 will operate under the name of the Del Mar Turf Club, Aircraft Division.

The racing layout, recognized as one of the most picturesque in the world, faces the Pacific ocean about 90 miles south of Los Angeles.

Crosby will serve as president of the new venture. Other officials include Pat O'Brien, the actor, vice-president; Charles S. Howard, Seabiscuit's owner, director; Kent Allen, general counsel and secretary, and Fred Poggi, manager of the aircraft division.

"Toughest Skipper In Game" Is Now Name For Dodger Field Leader

REDS, BRAVES ON TOP

Eddie Miller Sends Bucky Walters Home To Turn Back Phillies

NEW YORK, May 27—The Brooklyn Dodgers, and Pitcher Les Webber in particular, today nominated Leo Durocher as the toughest skipper in the major leagues.

Under Durocher's unhappy gaze, Webber tolled mightily for his club, and was rewarded for his pains by being rocked back on his heels by the Pittsburgh Pirates, who wound up with a 17 to 4 victory, most of it off Webber. Long before young Webber had finished his chores, he was ready for the showers, but Durocher refused to relieve him. All during the long parade of 26 Pittsburgh batters which marched to the plate in the second and third innings, Durocher sat and stonily watched the wrecked Webber fighting a tide he could not stem. The Pirates collected five runs in the second. No relief for Webber. They collected another in the third, another and another. No relief.

Webber walked, was hit, walked, was hit again. And Durocher watched and waited for the end, but did no relieve. When Webber slumped dejectedly off the mound in the third, his work finished, he had handed out 14 runs and nine walks 26 men, probably the worst disaster that will ever befall him in his pitching career. But, thought Durocher as he stared contemptuously at his spikes, strategy—and the better pitchers—must be served. The rest of the pitching squad had to be spared for future games.

Tough As Can Be
That, ironically, is why Durocher is as tough as they come. He can watch the shattering of one pitcher, because he knows the rest will be saved, and that's the sort of strategy that pays.

Out in Chicago, the strategy was more gentle, but the New York Giants set down the Chicago Cubs with a decided thump, 4 to 2. Bill Lohman went all the way for the Giants, who jumped into an early lead and stayed there. Paul Derringer was relieved by Dick Barrett in the eighth, and was tagged for the loss.

At Griffith stadium in Washington, 13,500 spectators watched the Senators hand the St. Louis Browns a 1 to 0 defeat. Washington now advances to virtually tie the New York Yankees for second place in the American league, although the Yanks lead by a few points.

The Boston Braves nosed the Cardinals out in an 11 inning game, 4 to 3, on a single by Charley Workman, played in St. Louis.

Eddie Miller singled Bucky Walters home to give the Cincinnati Reds a 1 to 0 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies in a night game in Cincinnati.

PITCHER GOES BACK TO BREWS; LOU IN DEBUT

CHICAGO, May 27—Pitcher Eddie Hanyzewski, who for a time looked as if he might be a fixture with the Chicago Cubs, today was shipped to the Milwaukee Brewers on option.

His departure left player-limit room for Lou Novikoff, who signaled his return to the Cubs yesterday by failing to get a hit in four times at bat and left four base runners stranded in a game which the New York Giants won, 4 to 2.

INDIANAPOLIS NINE STILL ON TOP IN ASSOCIATION

COLUMBUS, May 27—The Indianapolis Indians today continued to pace the American Association pennant race, their latest victory being recorded by a 4 to 1 margin over Minneapolis.

In defeating the Millers, the Indians halted the four-game victory streak of Otey Clark, his first defeat of the season and the Tribe's fourth consecutive triumph. The Columbus Red Birds chalked up a 10-inning, 1-to-0 win over Kansas City on the pitching and hurling of George "Lefty" Dockins. Holding the Blues to five hits, Dockins fired a single into left field in the tenth and scored on Emil Verban's triple.

The Louisville Colonels, in the only other league game played, scored two runs in the eighth inning to record a 4 to 1 victory over St. Paul. Norman Brown was the winning pitcher with Red Herring of the Saints being charged with the loss.

ALL-STAR PRO, HLAD FAVORED COLLEGE JOUST TO COP HONORS SET FOR AUG. 25 IN TRACK MEET

CHICAGO, May 27—The site of the 10th annual all-star football game today was changed from Soldier field where last year 101,000 spectators saw the Chicago Bears whip the all-stars 21 to 0, to Northwestern university's Dyche stadium in Evanston, Ill.

The game will be played the night of August 25 with the National League champions, the Washington Redskins, meeting the all-star collegians.

The profits of the game this year will be donated to Chicago service men's centers operated by Mayor Edward J. Kelly and Mrs. Kelly.

The sponsors of the game said that the main reason for changing sites was that they hoped "to restrict attendance, as far as possible, to fans in the metropolitan area in conformity with the wishes of the office of defense transportation."

It also was announced that for the first time in the all-star series there will be no fan poll to determine the starting lineup for the collegians.

Several of the outstanding football athletes of 1942 who now are in the service have received permission to participate in the game. Dyche stadium's capacity is approximately 48,000.

DAHLGREN PASSES

PHILADELPHIA, May 27—Babe Dahlgren, shortstop and leading hitter for the Phillies, today had passed his first physical examination for the army. Officials of Draft Board 52 said Dahlgren will be eligible for induction when the board fills its next quota—probably in July.

MILWAUKEE, May 27—Charlie Hlad, university of Chicago star and Western Conference high and loy hurdle champion, was favored hurdles at the Central Collegiate track meet title that eluded him when he ran under the colors of Michigan Normal.

Hlad is entered in both hurdle events at the 18th central collegiate meet in Marquette stadium Saturday. He is eligible as a service athlete studying in the army meteorology school at the University of Chicago.

Although he competed in the hurdles at the Central Collegiate meets of 1940, 1941 and 1942 as a student at Michigan Normal, Hlad never won a C. C. title.

Two other former Central Collegiate competitors will be eligible Saturday by virtue of their service status. They are Charles Beaudry, Marquette, who won the 220-yard dash in 1940, and Emmett Welch, Marquette high jumper.

Wisconsin is defending champion of the meet in a field of 20 midwest teams including many Western Conference squads.

TWO IRISH ACES RACE

LOS ANGELES, May 27—Two ex-Notre Dame stars now working in local defense industries today added their names to the list of experts in the hurdle and half-mile fields who will compete Saturday at Memorial coliseum in the Southern California invitational track championships. The first is Gerald MacDonald, who recently won the 880 at the Purdue relays in the sparkling time of 1:56.5. The second South Bend representative is Bill Dillon, who topped the high hurdles in 14.5 and the lows in 23.5 last year.

Haegg, A Star or Flop, Will Be Learned Soon

NEW YORK, May 27—Gunder Haegg, the Swede who is supposed to be the greatest runner that ever came to this country from abroad—and perhaps the greatest from one mile through three miles that the world has seen—is en route here for a campaign that will confirm his preeminence. On the other hand he may be a flop. He wouldn't be the first to find the ballyhoo too much for him.

Paavo Nurmi lived up to all expectations back in the golden 20s. And ever since he cut a trail in behalf of the foreigners they have been trying to capitalize on it with occasional embarrassment. The worst flop of them all was Sidney Wooderson, the Englishman.

Perhaps you remember him. He had run the fastest mile ever clocked without pacing—meaning the fastest, except Glen Cunningham's 4:04 mile at Dartmouth. He was ushered into the United States with fitting blare of trumpets and great palpitation all around prior to his run down at Princeton. He didn't look like a mile. He seemed slight and utterly prepossessing. You wondered looking at him lounging around or even working out how he would be able to get up a real head of steam.

Couldn't Run Lick

Actually he couldn't run a lick over here. I watched him go that day down at Princeton against the best of our guys and they beat him badly in one of the slowest big time miles ever run. They laid back waiting for him to set the pace, and he laid off the pace with the result that he and the meet turned out to be a pretty awful flop. Moreover, there were reverberations. He claimed he was fouled.

This was based on a slight nudging that he received when the American runners decided to run past him, after he steadfastly had refused to try to win. Our guys began to go, and he happened to be in the way at the moment.

In any case, he was beaten badly, identity of the winner being unimportant inasmuch as he was left back in the ruck by the field. As far as I know he has never done anything since then and in the light of subsequent history he was a wash-out.

Gunder Haegg may be different. He has piled up record after record abroad. The Swedes think he is the best that ever came along.

Just to keep the records straight in advance it might be wise to point out a technical point. This applies to all runners—humans or horses. He had no competition over in Europe. In this country he will find himself run into the ground in the early going and he will have to come on from there and outlast our best men. If he can do that all the records he now boasts seemingly will be strictly for the books.

But he might find the early pace too fast and be left so far behind when he gets ready for his kick that he won't be able to catch up. Actually that probably is what will happen. He probably will get whipped pretty thoroughly in our meet.

Nurmi Specialist

If this sounds like something designed to deflate a foreigner that's too bad. Nurmi stood out because he was a specialist within a certain range at a time when others simply didn't have that much steam. Haegg is going to have to beat Greg Rice among others—and it isn't at all likely that he can do it. Rice will be pressed for the first time himself with the result that he may shatter Haegg's own records.

ELLIOTT WHITE HEADS LEAGUE

Softball Organization To Be Formed Friday Eve; Play To Begin Soon

Elliott White, North Court street, manager of the A. and P. store, was elected president of a Circleville softball league Wednesday evening when an organization meeting was held in offices of The Daily Herald. Ned Dresbach, Watt street, was named secretary-treasurer.

It is hoped to be able to start a league during the next week, another meeting of managers being planned for Friday at 7 p. m. in the courthouse.

Numerous rules and regulations will be set up at this meeting, and teams wishing to enter must have representatives there. Tentatively the following teams are listed for possible places in the league roster, Methodist church, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Lutheran Brotherhood, Blue Ribbon dairy, Stoutsville, colored team and Pickaway township.

RED CROSS TO BENEFIT

NEW YORK, May 27—Memorial Day weekend will see 117 golf clubs in 25 states staging exhibition matches for the Red Cross in the first of the war charity week ends sponsored by the United States Golf association, officials of the U. S. G. A. announced today in New York. Although this is not imposing compared to more than 52,000 golf clubs throughout the country, U. S. G. A. officials pointed out that the Red Cross is running these tournaments and not the Golfing Association, because it has become too unwieldy to be handled from one center.

ALL-STAR PRO, HLAD FAVORED COLLEGE JOUST TO COP HONORS SET FOR AUG. 25 IN TRACK MEET

CHICAGO, May 27—The site of the 10th annual all-star football game today was changed from Soldier field where last year 101,000 spectators saw the Chicago Bears whip the all-stars 21 to 0, to Northwestern university's Dyche stadium in Evanston, Ill.

Nurmi Specialist

If this sounds like something designed to deflate a foreigner that's too bad. Nurmi stood out because he was a specialist within a certain range at a time when others simply didn't have that much steam. Haegg is going to have to beat Greg Rice among others—and it isn't at all likely that he can do it. Rice will be pressed for the first time himself with the result that he may shatter Haegg's own records.

Softball Organization To Be Formed Friday Eve; Play To Begin Soon

Elliott White, North Court street, manager of the A. and P. store, was elected president of a Circleville softball league Wednesday evening when an organization meeting was held in offices of The Daily Herald. Ned Dresbach, Watt street, was named secretary-treasurer.

It is hoped to be able to start a league during the next week, another meeting of managers being planned for Friday at 7 p. m. in the courthouse.

Numerous rules and regulations will be set up at this meeting, and teams wishing to enter must have representatives there.

Tentatively the following teams are listed for possible places in the league roster, Methodist church, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Lutheran Brotherhood, Blue Ribbon dairy, Stoutsville, colored team and Pickaway township.

RED CROSS TO BENEFIT

NEW YORK, May 27—Memorial Day weekend will see 117 golf clubs in 28 states staging exhibition matches for the Red Cross in the first of the war charity week ends sponsored by the United States Golf association, officials of the U. S. G. A. announced today in New York. Although this is not imposing compared to more than 52,000 golf clubs throughout the country, U. S. G. A. officials pointed out that the Red Cross is running these tournaments and not the Golfing Association, because it has become too unwieldy to be handled from one center.

NUMBERS GAME OPERATORS HIT BY LEGISLATION

Senate Passes Bill To Increase Penalties For Racket

MAY HIT HOUSE SNAĞ Foes Of Measure Hope It May Be Last In Adjournment Rush

'Numbers' game operators heard the bell toll Wednesday when the Ohio senate passed an anti-numbers racket measure by a 26 to 3 vote, decreeing prison terms up to seven years against persons who violate the law.

The prison term would follow second conviction.

The measure now goes back to the house for concurrence in amendments. Reports were current in the capital that opponents of the measure would seek to kill it by striving to have the house refuse to concur in senate changes.

Foes of the 'numbers' bill believe that the measure might become lost in the shuffle of last minute press of business, motions seeking to end their present session and return to their home.

Would Halt Game

Passage of the bill would almost certainly break up 'numbers' houses operating in the state. For the last several years Circleville treasury has been receiving from $100 to $150 a month from the 'numbers' game, $50 monthly assessments being made against operators. At present only two persons are paying assessments, the third being reported out of business.

The $369,000,000 general appropriations bill, the biggest single item blocking adjournment of the Ohio legislature, went to a conference committee Thursday to iron out senate-house differences.

Both house and senate leaders were confident that the measure could be agreed on in time to permit the legislators to go home this week. The senate passed the bill yesterday, 31-1, after adding $410,000 in floor amendments.

The house rid its calendar of two "must" bills, the Whittemore bill to levy unemployment insurance surtaxes against war expanded industries and the Daniels bill, to provide $1,500,000 for the rehabilitation of weak school districts. The votes on the measures were 101-18 and 103-0 respectively.

Pardon Bill Passed

The house also reconsidered its stand of Tuesday and passed, 76-32, the Rogers-Cattell bill, which would permit the Ohio pardon and parole commission to recommend pardons or commutations to the governor in cases of

CESAR ANDRADE COMING TO TALK TO ROTARIANS

Cesar Andrade, minister of finance in Ecuador, will come to Circleville Friday at 11:45 a. m. to address the Rotary club in its second meeting of the week. The club was also meeting Thursday at Pickaway Arms to hear an address by Colonel Chester Goble of state Selective Service headquarters.

Mr. Andrade's visit was arranged by Dr. G. D. Phillips, president-elect of Rotary, when he attended the International Convention in St. Louis last week.

Mr. Andrade's Rotary classification is that of manufacturer of pharmaceutical products. He is a former professor of chemistry in Ecuador, a provincial governor there and a former senator.

The Friday meeting will take the place of the regular Rotary session scheduled next Thursday, June 3.

FORECLOSURE SOUGHT

Home Owners Loan Corporation, Columbus, filed a foreclosure action Wednesday in common pleas court against Mrs. Ida J. Secoy, widow of Dr. E. A. Secoy of Darbyville, and others. Property in Darbyville is involved. The HOLC seeking $1,365.60 plus costs and interest. Appointment of a receiver is also asked.

first degree murderers serving life sentences.

The big news of the day, however, centered around the appropriations bill and the Whittemore BUC bill. The latter was passed over the objections of Under-Secretary of War Robert Patterson, who sent a radiogram to the house protesting the measure.

The bill provides that employers whose businesses have expended 50 percent or more in the war-bonus period, and whose reserve in the unemployment insurance fund is less than nine percent of the annual payroll, shall be assessed a surtax ranging from 1/10th of one percent to one percent, to build up a cushion against post-war unemployment.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, gritting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passage with burning and stinging sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

ACCUSES WIFE IN SUIT
Charging wilful absence for more than three years, John William Stevens of Circleville filed divorce action Wednesday in common pleas court against Bessie Alice Stevens. The couple was married in 1911 in Stoutsville and has six children, two of whom are minors.

DUNLAP AUTO FOUND
Lancaster police have located the automobile belonging to John H. Dunlap, Jr., Williamsport, stolen last Saturday night from New Holland. The car had been left in a Lancaster parking lot and was in good running condition.

KEGG DIVORCE GRANTED
Mrs. Virginia Bell Kegg of Washington C. H. was granted a divorce Wednesday in Fayette county common pleas court from Earl O. Kegg of Circleville. Neglect of duty and extreme cruelty were charged.

Sardinia, Pantelleria And Sicily All Experience Slashing Attacks

raked airdromes, shipping and supply bases.

Airfield Bombed

Flying Fortresses ranging over Sicily dropped a tremendous weight of bombs on the Comiso airfield, causing fires and explosions. Other Sicilian objectives were hammered by Mitchell and Marauder medium bombers which wrought particularly heavy damage at the Ponte Clivzo airfield.

Sardinia Blasted

Sardinia was assaulted by American Warhawks and Lightnings which battered shipping and the quay at Porto Pons Romano, set a large cargo vessel afire with a direct hit at Golfo Aranci, blasted hangars, barracks and ground planes at the Villacido air-drome and hit a power station at Tiro.

Warhawks again bombed tiny Pantelleria island, off Cap Bon in liberated Tunisia.

During these attacks, four enemy planes were shot down in combat. During the previous night an Allied fighter downed a fifth Axis plane. Total allied losses were two planes.

Coincident with Gen. Eisenhower's report came a communique from Cairo saying British bombers, in an attack on enemy shipping off the southern coast of Greece, sank one cargo vessel, left another sinking, fired a third and forced the crew of a fourth to abandon ship.

The German radio report of a naval battle near the Dutch island of Terschelling in the North Sea said a squadron of British torpedo boats, gunboats and E-boats early today engaged German coastal vessels. The Nazi report, unconfirmed in Allied quarters, said all the German units returned to their bases and claimed shellfire hit a British boat.

The report of new Japanese concentrations near Australia came in a Reuters dispatch quoting Australian Army Minister Francis Forde as saying the Japs had massed hundreds of planes and a quarter of a million troops and had built 60 new airfield in the island perimeter from Timor to Rabaul, New Britain.

Meanwhile Gen. Douglas MacArthur disclosed a blistering new assault on the important Jap base at Madang, New Guinea, where four-motored bombers hurled tons of explosives and incendiaries on the airfield and nearby installations, while long-range fighters attacked Jap positions in the vicinity.

Medium bombers of Gen. MacArthur's command set off numerous explosions and fires in a night attack on the Langgoer airdrome in the Kel Islands and other Allied planes bombed and strafed the enemy near Mubo, New Guinea, and Arawe, New Britain.

In the North Pacific, only the absence of good flying weather was believed holding up the inevitable conclusion of the campaign on the Aleutian island of Attu.

Today's Moscow war communique said the Red army inflicted heavy losses on German forces attempting a strong attack in the Kuban valley of the Caucasus. Soviet airmen were said to have downed 67 German planes which had set out to bomb Russian positions northeast of Novorossisk.

TRIBUTE PAID EDEL FORD BY AUTO WORKERS

DETROIT, May 27 — The men and women who owe their livelihood to the automobile industry paid tribute today to one of the men who helped found it.

A solemn line of workers from the factories and offices of this motor capital, passed through a flower-filled funeral home where Edsel Ford, only son of the industry's first citizen, lies in state. Doors of the chapel will be open to 10 o'clock tonight to allow war workers on most shifts to pay homage to Ford.

Private funeral services will be at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel of Christ Episcopal church in suburban Grosse Pointe. It was here that Ford saw two of his children married within the last two years.

Services in the tiny chapel will be conducted by Episcopal Bishop Frank W. Crighton and the Rev. Francis B. Craemer, pastor. Like the service, burial will be private. Meanwhile, thousands of Detroiters expressed their grief through personal tributes to the leader who helped make Detroit's riches possible.

Many of them remember Ford as a child—their son of one of the world's richest men. Some recalled how he donned overalls in 1912 when he was 19 years old, and went to work for his father. They had watched his career from that beginning to its sudden end yesterday.

Chaos Seen If New Tax Plan Fails

percent of one year's tax liability if under $50 and 75 percent if over $50, except for a "notch provision" conflicts with the treasury's plans for tax abatement.

While the bill generally calls for a horizontal abatement—with all taxpayers treated alike—the treasury fought for higher abatement in the lower brackets.

President Philip Murray of the CIO entered the fight by urging congress to reject the compromise.

"Full tax abatement in lowest brackets is essential to avoid excessive hardships," said Murray. "The conference plan, like the original Ruml plan, affords overwhelming benefits to the highest brackets and threatens additional shift of tax burden to small incomes in future tax laws."

Republican House Leader Joseph Martin said the country would be disappointed in failure of the Ruml plan, but approved the compromise because it puts taxpayers on a pay-as-you-earn basis.

George warned taxpayers that the 75 percent abatement does not mean lower taxes. Because of the windfall provisions, he said, the total individual income tax liability will be increased $3,000,000,000 in two years and 1944 income taxes will rise to a record level of $16,000,000,000.

"Taxes are not going to be any lighter," he said. "The tax will be the same with the same income and will increase with increasing income, in addition to the carry-over of the 25 percent."

Further discussion of the $50 cancellation was planned by the conferees. Some disagreement over the proper interpretation arose.

George, however, said that the $50 cancellation applies only if the tax liability is under that amount. Those whose taxes are more do not get the benefit of it.

The so-called "notch" provision, designed to grade the forgiveness on some small taxpayers, probably will extend to a tax of $67. Thus, a person whose tax is $60 might have $50 abated outright, together with 75 percent of the remaining $10.

Congressional tax experts were working overtime whipping into technical language the general agreement of the conferees. It was possible that a movement might be launched to raise the $50 flat cancellation to $100.

HALLSVILLE ARRANGES MEMORIAL SERVICES

UNION SENDS 49,000 WORKERS BACK TO JOBS

Strongly Worded Edited By President Has Sudden Effect

o'clock noon, Thursday. . . Your government will take the necessary steps to protect the interests of the nation, the legal rights and properties of the companies involved and the rights of the patriotic workers who desire to work."

Strike Not Justified

In telegrams to heads of the local unions, as well as of the international, President Roosevelt added:

"Economic sacrifices, whether real or not, do not justify the strike action taken by members of your union."

Scarcely two hours after the union officials took a definite stand. Earlier, though, a break had appeared in the ranks of the strikers when the first group of 3,000 employees of the General Tire and Rubber Company—who had walked out in sympathy to the production workers—voted to return.

In commenting upon the President's order, one union executive board member declared:

"It's a safe bet all men who hear of his order and the union appeals will return to their jobs."

Appeal To WLB

In a joint statement urging the men to return to their machines, the union officials also took time to request that the War Labor Board reconsider the "merits of the WLB panel's recommendation."

The WLB panel recommended an eight-cent hourly wage increase, which was but one-half cent below the raise demanded by the strikers. The full board's refusal to grant more than a three-cent-an-hour pay rise was quickly followed by walkouts in Firestone and Goodrich plants.

The strike, which at its peak left 52,000 workers idle after the General Tire and Rubber Company production men joined in sympathy, was estimated by company officials to have resulted in the loss of more than $14,000,000 worth of war products.

Management spokesmen estimated that 750 tons of synthetic rubber production was lost during the shutdown.

The only company that was not surrounded by picket lines during the strike was General Tire and Rubber. Shoulder-to-shoulder human barricades blocked entrances at Goodyear plants, while smaller contingents of pickets patrolled Goodrich and Firestone factories. Occasional violence marred the demonstrations.

CITY RECEPTION PLEASES NAVY'S RECRUIT SEEKERS

Members of Uncle Sam's navy who came to Circleville Wednesday to seek applications for enlistment expressed pleasure over the reception here.

Chief Electrician's Mate W. H. Donald, a navy veteran, who headed the "land cruiser" unit which came to Circleville, thanked all public officials for their cooperation and praised the high school and the junior bands for the concert they played during the afternoon.

Donald said the visit here was highly successful so far as applications for enlistment were concerned, several local youths of 17 signing applications for posts in the navy. Ensign Verona James of the WAVES, who accompanied the unit, said that she had several interviews with local girls and women who are considering enrollment and that her conferences may lead to enlistments.

The "land cruiser" unit was at a disadvantage because of Circleville's Wednesday afternoon closing program, but all navy men who came here were highly pleased with the number of persons who inspected the "cruiser" and the number who surrounded the recruiting outfit during most of the day and evening.

The "cruiser" is on a tour of south central Ohio cities.

Allied Strategy Plan To Knock Italy Out Of War Gets Into Stride

have no hope of peace as long as Mussolini and his Fascists remain in control in Italy.

The position of the American and British governments is that force alone can be the only method of dealing with Italy until Fascist domination of that country is ended. In the opinion of this government, a separate peace, or agreement of any kind, with the Italian Fascists could be nothing more than a trap for fools.

Furthermore, the Italian people are being told that it is up to them to help restore their freedom. On the extent to which they do so will depend the leniency shown them by the Allies after the war.

The American policy is to try to encourage a new leadership to emerge within Italy. The promise of Allied help is being held out to any responsible non-Fascist leader who comes forward from the ranks of the Italian army or navy, or even from the royal house of Savoy, and rallies the people in a movement to overthrow Mussolini.

While the Allies intend to insist on the unconditional surrender of Italy, there is reason to believe the final peace terms to be imposed on that country would be considerably eased if the Italian people repent for their sins in time by helping get rid of the Fascists whom Churchill said have been leading them around by the nose.

MILTON KELLSTADT TO SEEK TREASURER POST

Milton Kellstadt, North Court street, a Democrat, became the first official candidate for office Wednesday afternoon when he handed his declaration of candidacy to Russel Imier, election board clerk.

Mr. Kellstadt is seeking the Democratic nomination for treasurer.

At the same time Boyd Horn, Fourth Ward councilman, obtained a petition for renomination. He is a Democrat.

Deadline for filing petitions is June 11.

COLUMBUS MAN JAILED FOR DRUNKEN DRIVING

Walter Jeffries, 61, of Columbus, was arrested Thursday on the Cromley road near Ashville on a charge of operating a motor vehicle when he was under the influence of liquor. Jeffries was lodged in county jail after passersby reported to the sheriff's office that he had parked his car in the middle of the road.

Jeffries, arrested by Deputy Vern Pontious, is scheduled for a hearing before Squire B. T. Hedger. The Columbus man told the deputy he could not remember how he got to Pickaway county. A quart of gin was found in the automobile.

Sardinia was assaulted by American Warhawks and Lightnings which battered shipping and the quay at Porto Pons Romano, set a large cargo vessel afire with a direct hit at Golfo Aranci, blasted hangars, barracks and ground-planes at the Villadrome air-drome and hit a power station at Tiro.

Warhawks again bombed tiny Pantelleria island, off Cap Bon in liberated Tunisia.

During these attacks, four enemy planes were shot down in combat. During the previous night an Allied fighter downed a fifth Axis plane. Total allied losses were two planes.

Coincident with Gen. Eisenhower's report came a communique from Cairo saying British bombers, in an attack on enemy shipping off the southern coast of Greece, sank one cargo vessel, left another sinking, fired a third and forced the crew of a fourth to abandon ship.

The German radio report of a naval battle near the Dutch island of Terschelling in the North Sea said a squadron of British torpedo boats, gunboats and E-boats early today engaged German coastal vessels. The Nazi report, unconfirmed in Allied quarters, said all the German units returned to their bases and claimed shellfire hit a British boat.

The report of new Japanese concentrations near Australia came in a Reuters dispatch quoting Australian Army Minister Francis Forde as saying the Japs had massed hundreds of planes and a quarter of a million troops and had built 60 new airfield in the island perimeter from Timor to Rabaul, New Britain.

Meanwhile Gen. Douglas MacArthur disclosed a blistering new assault on the important Jap base at Madang, New Guinea, where four-motored bombers hurled tons of explosives and incendiaries on the airfield and nearby installations, while long-range fighters attacked Jap positions in the vicinity.

Medium bombers of Gen. MacArthur's command set off numerous explosions and fires in a night attack on the Langgoer airdrome in the Kei islands and other Allied planes bombed and strafed the enemy near Mubo, New Guinea, and Arawe, New Britain.

In the North Pacific, only the absence of good flying weather was believed holding up the inevitable conclusion of the campaign on the Aleutian island of Attu.

Today's Moscow war communique said the Red army inflicted heavy losses on German forces attempting a strong attack in the Kuban valley of the Caucasus. Soviet airmen were said to have downed 67 German planes which had set out to bomb Russian positions northeast of Novorossisk.

TRIBUTE PAID EDEL FORD BY AUTO WORKERS

DETROIT, May 27 — The men and women who own their livelihood to the automobile industry paid tribute today to one of the men who helped found it.

A solemn line of workers from the factories and offices of this motor capital, passed through a flower-filled funeral home where Edsel Ford, only son of the industry's first citizen, lies in state.

Doors of the chapel will be open to 10 o'clock tonight to allow war workers on most shifts to pay homage to Ford.

Private funeral services will be at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel of Christ Episcopal church in suburban Grosse Pointe. It was here that Ford saw two of his children married within the last two years.

Services in the tiny chapel will be conducted by Episcopal Bishop Frank W. Creighton and the Rev. Francis B. Cramer, pastor. Like the service, burial will be private.

Meanwhile, thousands of Detroiters expressed their grief through personal tributes to the leader who helped make Detroit's riches possible.

Many of them remember Ford as a child—their son of one of the world's richest men. Some recalled how he donned overalls in 1912 when he was 19 years old, and went to work for his father. They had watched his career from that beginning to its sudden end yesterday.

Chaos Seen If New Tax Plan Fails

percent of one year's tax liability if under $50 and 75 percent if over $50, except for a "notch provision" conflicts with the treasury's plans for tax abatement.

While the bill generally calls for a horizontal abatement—with all taxpayers treated alike—the treasury fought for higher abatement in the lower brackets.

President Philip Murray of the CIO entered the fight by urging congress to reject the compromise.

"Full tax abatement in lowest brackets is essential to avoid excessive hardships," said Murray.

"The conference plan, like the original Ruml plan, affords overwhelming benefits to the highest brackets and threatens additional shift of tax burden to small incomes in future tax laws."

Republican House Leader Joseph Martin said the country would be disappointed in failure of the Ruml plan, but approved the compromise because it puts taxpayers on a pay-as-you-earn basis.

George warned taxpayers that the 75 percent abatement does not mean lower taxes. Because of the windfall provisions, he said, the total individual income tax liability will be increased $3,000,000,000 in two years and 1944 income taxes will rise to a record level of $16,000,000,000.

"Taxes are not going to be any lighter," he said. "The tax will be the same with the same income and will increase with increasing income, in addition to the carry-over of the 25 percent."

Further discussion of the $50 cancellation was planned by the conferees. Some disagreement over the proper interpretation arose.

George, however, said that the $50 cancellation applies only if the tax liability is under that amount. Those whose taxes are more do not get the benefit of it.

The so-called "notch" provision, designed to grade the forgiveness on some small taxpayers, probably will extend to a tax of $67. Thus, a person whose tax is $60 might have $50 abated outright, together with 75 percent of the remaining $10.

Congressional tax experts were working overtime whipping into technical language the general agreement of the conferees. It was possible that a movement might be launched to raise the $50 flat cancellation to $100.

HALLSVILLE ARRANGES MEMORIAL SERVICES

Annual Memorial Day services will be held Sunday in Hallsville with the program beginning at 10 o'clock Central War Time. A. E. Gower, superintendent of Ross county school, will be the speaker.

The program will be conducted in the Methodist church and will be concluded at the Buchwalter monument at the cemetery.

The Hallsville Community Band will play.

UNION SENDS 49,000 WORKERS BACK TO JOBS

Strongly Worded Edict By President Has Sudden Effect

o'clock noon, Thursday. . . Your government will take the necessary steps to protect the interests of the nation, the legal rights and properties of the companies involved and the rights of the patriotic workers who desire to work."

Strike Not Justified

In telegrams to heads of the local unions, as well as of the international, President Roosevelt added:

"Economic sacrifices, whether real or not, do not justify the strike action taken by members of your union."

Scarcely two hours after the union officials took a definite stand. Earlier, though, a break had appeared in the ranks of the strikers when the first group of 3,000 employees of the General Tire and Rubber Company—who had walked out in sympathy to the production workers—voted to return.

In commenting upon the President's order, one union executive board member declared:

"It's a safe bet all men who hear of his order and the union appeals will return to their jobs."

Appeal To WLB

In a joint statement urging the men to return to their machines, the union officials also took time to request that the War Labor Board reconsider the "merits of the WLB panel's recommendation."

The WLB panel recommended an eight-cent hourly wage increase, which was but one-half cent below the raise demanded by the strikers. The full board's refusal to grant more than a three-cent-an-hour pay rise was quickly followed by walkouts in Firestone and Goodrich plants.

The strike, which at its peak left 52,000 workers idle after the General Tire and Rubber Company production men joined in sympathy, was estimated by company officials to have resulted in the loss of more than $14,000,000 worth of war products.

Management spokesmen estimated that 750 tons of synthetic rubber production was lost during the shutdown.

The only company that was not surrounded by picket lines during the strike was General Tire and Rubber. Shoulder-to-shoulder human barricades blocked entrances at Goodyear plants, while smaller contingents of pickets patrolled Goodrich and Firestone factories. Occasional violence marred the demonstrations.

CITY RECEPTION PLEASES NAVY'S RECRUIT SEEKERS

Members of Uncle Sam's navy who came to Circleville Wednesday to seek applications for enlistment expressed pleasure over the reception here.

Chief Electrician's Mate W. H. Donald, a navy veteran, who headed the "land cruiser" unit which came to Circleville, thanked all public officials for their cooperation and praised the high school and the junior bands for the concert they played during the afternoon.

Donald said the visit here was highly successful so far as applications for enlistment were concerned, several local youths of 17 signed applications for posts in the navy. Ensign Verona James of the WAVES, who accompanied the unit, said that she had several interviews with local girls and women who are considering enrollment and that her conferences may lead to enlistments.

The "land cruiser" unit was at a disadvantage because of Circleville's Wednesday afternoon closing program, but all navy men who came here were highly pleased with the number of persons who inspected the "cruiser" and the number who surrounded the recruiting outfit during most of the day and evening.

The "cruiser" is on a tour of south central Ohio cities.

LEIST RITES FRIDAY

Funeral services for Miss Sadie M. Leist, who died Wednesday at her home, 307 East Mount street, will be held Friday at 2:30 p. m. at the Defenbaugh funeral home. The Rev. Harold Dutt of Stoutsville will officiate with burial in Forest cemetery.

Allied Strategy Plan To Knock Italy Out Of War Gets Into Stride

have no hope of peace as long as Mussolini and his Fascists remain in control in Italy.

The position of the American and British governments is that force alone can be the only method of dealing with Italy until Fascist domination of that country is ended. In the opinion of this government, a separate peace, or agreement of any kind, with the Italian Fascists could be nothing more than a trap for fools.

Furthermore, the Italian people are being told that it is up to them to help restore their freedom. On the extent to which they do so will depend the leniency shown them by the Allies after the war.

The American policy is to try to encourage a new leadership to emerge within Italy. The promise of Allied help is being held out to any responsible non-Fascist leader who comes forward from the ranks of the Italian army or navy, or even from the royal house of Savoy, and rallies the people in a movement to overthrow Mussolini.

While the Allies intend to insist on the unconditional surrender of Italy, there is reason to believe the final peace terms to be imposed on that country would be considerably eased if the Italian people repent for their sins in time by helping get rid of the Fascists whom Churchill said have been leading them around by the nose.

MIDWEST TAKES STOCK OF HEAVY FLOOD DAMAGE

Thousands Of Families Streaming Back To Reclaim Land

Tower, Ill., which supplied power for Illinois south to Tuscola including many coal mines, was ringed with sandbags and holding out against the flood although coastguardsmen said the situation there was "critical." Grand Tower was under martial law.

Beardstown, Ill., where Abraham Lincoln won his spurs as a lawyer, appeared to be out of danger as the great seawall protecting the town withstood the crest of the Illinois river. Army officials, however, declared the situation there still was "potentially serious."

Day and night shifts of workers that had built a sandbag wall around the huge caterpillar tractor company plant at Peoria, Ill., were believed to have won their battle against the flood waters. A drop of almost a foot was recorded in the Illinois river at Peoria.

The city hall at Meredosia, Ill., was in three feet of water and many streets still were flooded as the Illinois river there crested at 30 feet. Few residents left the town.

Four new deaths were reported in the flood area.

The flood crisis apparently had passed in Indiana and no further serious conditions were reported in Oklahoma, Arkansas and Kansas.

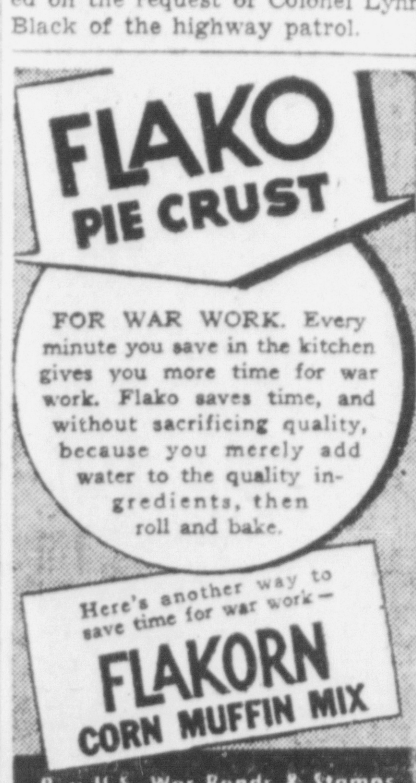

Thousands of soldiers, state militiamen and civilian volunteers were on flood duty throughout the stricken areas. In Illinois alone 8,100 army troops were on flood duty in addition to 300 others who were aiding with rehabilitation work at refugee centers.

DRAFT CLASSIFICATION OF HURST OVERRULED

Selective Service board of appeals has overruled the Pickaway county draft classification of I-A given to Harry Alkire Hurst, of Williamsport, a member of the state highway patrol assigned to the Mansfield district.

The district board placed Hurst in 2-A for six months.

The classification was reversed on the request of Colonel Lynn Black of the highway patrol.

COUNCIL SOON TO DECIDE ON MERGING JOBS

City And County Officials Consider Proposals On Health Officer

ADKINS VOICES FAVOR

Dr. Blackburn Willing To Serve Both Rural And Urban Areas

Decision on combining city and county health offices is expected to be made during the next month after figures showing cost of operation are compiled and studied by Circleville council and the county health board.

Councilmen George L. Crites and J. Donald Mason and Solicitor Joe W. Adkins met Wednesday afternoon with the county health board at its May meeting, the possibility of combining the two offices under the direction of Dr. A. D. Blackburn being considered.

It was agreed by both units that neither had investigated the cost of combining the offices sufficiently to make a definite decision without further study. City and county are expected to do some investigating between now and the next meeting of the county board in June at which time a definite decision may be made.

Adkins Favorable
Solicitor Adkins expressed belief Wednesday that the offices could be placed under Dr. Blackburn, retaining their present office staffs, at little or no more cost than at present. Increase in efficiency would overcome any additional expense that might be incurred, he declared.

Circleville's safety director has been its health officer in the last several years, council seeking to have a physician take over. Dr. Blackburn has expressed willingness to serve if he should be chosen. The county board has granted permission to him to do so, if necessary arrangements can be worked out.

Dr. Blackburn in making his report to his board concerning health work in May disclosed that several mild cases of scarlet fever in Wayne, Washington and Harrison townships called for investigation of possible contacts. The health commissioner made daily examinations of school children in Wayne township for two weeks in an effort to eliminate any mild cases that might be in school. The conclusion reached was that there were carriers in the community who had the germs in their throats and yet presented no symptoms of the disease themselves.

Eight chest x-rays were made during the month and an equal

68 SELECTEES RELEASED FROM ARMED SERVICES

Pickaway county Selective Service office disclosed Thursday that 68 men who have gone into service from this county have been released because of physical disability or because they were overage.

In nearly all instances, the board has been informed, men returning home have taken work in war industry or on farms.

Selective Service provides assistance for men returning after discharge, R. L. Brehmer, North Court street, serving as reemployment officer for the Selective Service office. Any man discharged after being called into service and being in need of work is referred to Mr. Brehmer.

The county's May contingent of 11 men will leave Circleville Saturday afternoon for Fort Hayes, Columbus, to be assigned from that point to camps throughout the country. Don W. White of Circleville is acting corporal. While 15 were accepted from the group sent up last week, one has been assigned to coast guard, two to the navy and one had already gone to a camp to start training.

Selective Service office is seeking information concerning two registrants, Woodrow O. Sparks, whose last known address was Circleville Route 4, and Charles A. Jones, whose last known home was New Holland Route 1.

Sparks is registered with Board No. 38, Sandy Hook, Elliott county Kentucky, but the local office is trying to get in touch with him. Jones was registered in Pickaway county when he was employed by Malcolm S. Wilkins, New Holland Route 1. His last known address was Urbana Route 3.

Sales tax receipts continued to rise above 1942 levels in Pickaway county during the week ending May 15 when the state treasurer's office reported totals for 1943 to that date to be $28,983.92 compared with $24,980.39.

Sales for the week ending May 15 were $1,855.83, more than $100 ahead of 1942's $1,752.85 for the same week a year ago.

number of chest examinations. Numerous cases of enlarged and diseased tonsils were examined.

Two dog heads were examined at state laboratories for rabies after two persons were bitten. These persons received Pasteur treatment.

The health officer also reported a pre-school clinic in Washington township, and that the first case of diphtheria in two years had broken out.

Mrs. Effie Hill, county health nurse, also reported much activity during the month, listing work in communicable diseases, tuberculosis control, maternity service, infant hygiene, preschool hygiene, orthopedic service and personal conferences.

County School Pupils Make Good Showing In Scholarship Tests

Pickaway county school pupils who participated in the state scholarship examination conducted April 30 did very well, George D. McDowell, county superintendent, declared Thursday after a complete record was received of grades made by the pupils.

The examination was conducted in a different manner this year than heretofore, none of the pupils being sent to Columbus for the examination, the test being conducted in the various schools. Some schools did not participate in the state test this year.

Highest ranking pupils in the state were Hubert Whiting Paul, Jr., of Ottawa Hills, Lucas county, and Lois Ann Elmore, Akron Butcher, Paul scored 280 out of a possible 300 and Miss Elmore scored 247.

Following is the report made by Mr. McDowell concerning Pickaway county pupils:

New Holland school: Wilfred Henry Hupp, Biology I, 17th in district; Norman Gooley, Chemistry I, 13th in district; Elaine Stoker, English 9, honorable mention; Norman Gooley, American History, 12th in district, honorable mention in state; Dean Tarbill, American History, honorable mention in district; Wilfred Hupp, Latin 2, sixth in district, 25th in state.

Perry township: Samuel Bock, World History, honorable mention in district; Walter L. Hobbie, World History, 10th in district, honorable mention in state; John Woodrow Williams, general science, seventh in district, honorable mention in state.

Pickaway township: Roy Jenkins Jr., World History, 17th in district; Wayne Lee Bower, general science, honorable mention in district.

Saltcreek township: Anne Macklin, American History, honorable mention in district; George Rodocker, English 3, second in district, sixth in state; Anne Macklin, English 3, honorable mention in district; Betty Jo Minshall, English 10, honorable mention in district.

Ashville, Norma V. Vause, senior social science, 16th in district; Richard Hudson, plane geometry, 13th in district; Frederick Puckett, plane geometry, first in district, ninth in entire state; George D. McDowell, physics, third in district, fifth in section of state;

Richard Hudson, Latin 2, 18th in district; Richard Messick, Latin 2, third in district, 17th in state; Richard Messick, biology, third in district 23 in state; Helen E. Irwin, English XI, 15th in district, honorable mention in state; George McDowell, English XI, fifth in district, honorable mention in state; Frederick Puckett, English X, eighth in district, honorable mention in district; Faye M. Dowler, U. S. history, honorable mention in district.

Jackson township: Nell Bumgarner, English II, honorable mention in district.

Derby: Betty Wnegarner, first year algebra, eighth in district and honorable mention in state.

Chains are evidently of very ancient origin. Nearly all old writers speak of their use, and they are repeatedly spoken of in the Bible.

From where I sit...

by Joe Marsh

Bill Burry was reflecting back on the last war and what the boys used to do when they got a furlough.

"We weren't a hard-drinking bunch particularly, but that was in Prohibition," said Bill, "and forbidden fruit always seems worth goin' after. We'd hunt up a bootlegger, which was easy, and buy a bottle.

"So, instead of a beer or two, well—I guess we generally drank too much!... wonder what the boys are doing this time?"

I got out the official report the Office of War Information made and read him this: "The fact that there is vastly less drinking among soldiers in this war may stem in part from the sale of beer in camps."

From where I sit, it certainly doesn't look as if we had to worry about our boys. We learned our lesson in the last war, and I'm glad to see we're on the right track now.

Pennsylvania Railroad provides Station Canteens, Lounges or Special Facilities for Service Men in many Cities

Railroad stations these wartime days are crowded with men from all branches of the service. Some going to induction centers, some to advanced training camps, some to global fronts, some home on well-earned furloughs.

No matter how brief their stay is, the railroads want them to feel "at home."

So in a number of stations on the Pennsylvania Railroad, service men are welcomed to canteens, lounges and other facilities especially for them. At Union Stations, the Pennsylvania joins with other railroads in offering service men these facilities.

Here the service men may relax, write, eat, refresh themselves, chat, play games and, at a few, even sleeping quarters are provided. More than 6,000,000 men in uniform have been entertained or assisted in these centers since Pearl Harbor.

The facilities are operated by the USO (including the Travelers' Aid Society, the YMCA, the Salvation Army), the Women's Aid of the Pennsylvania Railroad, the American Legion or other local patriotic organizations.

With the splendid cooperation of these worthy groups, who give so generously of their time and money—the Pennsylvania Railroad will continue to make things as pleasant and comfortable as possible for the boys serving our Country.

COUNCIL SOON TO DECIDE ON MERGING JOBS

City And County Officials Consider Proposals On Health Officer

ADKINS VOICES FAVOR

Dr. Blackburn Willing To Serve Both Rural And Urban Areas

Decision on combining city and county health offices is expected to be made during the next month after figures showing cost of operation are compiled and studied by Circleville council and the county health board.

Councilmen George L. Crites and J. Donald Mason and Solicitor Joe W. Adkins met Wednesday afternoon with the county health board at its May meeting, the possibility of combining the two offices under the direction of Dr. A. D. Blackburn being considered.

It was agreed by both units that neither had investigated the cost of combining the offices sufficiently to make a definite decision without further study. City and county are expected to do some investigating between now and the next meeting of the county board in June at which time a definite decision may be made.

Adkins Favors

Solicitor Adkins expressed belief Wednesday that the offices could be placed under Dr. Blackburn, retaining their present office staffs, at little or no more cost than at present. Increase in efficiency would overcome any additional expense that might be incurred, he declared.

Circleville's safety director has been its health officer in the last several years, council seeking to have a physician take over. Dr. Blackburn has expressed willingness to serve if he should be chosen. The county board has granted permission to him to do so, if necessary arrangements can be worked out.

Dr. Blackburn in making his report to his board concerning health work in May disclosed that several mild cases of scarlet fever in Wayne, Washington and Harrison townships called for investigation of possible contacts. The health commissioner made daily examinations of school children in Wayne township for two weeks in an effort to eliminate any mild cases that might be in school. The conclusion reached was that there were carriers in the community who had the germs in their throats and yet presented no symptoms of the disease themselves.

Eight chest x-rays were made during the month and an equal

68 SELECTEES RELEASED FROM ARMED SERVICES

Pickaway county Selective Service office disclosed Thursday that 68 men who have gone into service from this county have been released because of physical disability or because they were overage.

In nearly all instances, the board has been informed, men returning home have taken work in war industry or on farms.

Selective Service provides assistance for men returning after discharge. R. L. Brehmer, North Court street, serving as reemployment officer for the Selective Service office. Any man discharged after being called into service and being in need of work is referred to Mr. Brehmer.

The county's May contingent of 11 men will leave Circleville Saturday afternoon for Fort Hayes, Columbus, to be assigned from that point to camps throughout the country. Don W. White of Circleville is acting corporal.

While 15 were accepted from the group sent up last week, one has been assigned to coast guard, two to the navy and one had already gone to a camp to start training.

Selective Service office is seeking information concerning two registrants, Woodrow O. Sparks, whose last known address was Circleville Route 4, and Charles A. Jones, whose last known home was New Holland Route 1.

Sparks is registered with Board No. 38, Sandy Hook, Elliott county Kentucky, but the local office is trying to get in touch with him.

Jones was registered in Pickaway county when he was employed by Malcolm S. Wilkins, New Holland Route 1. His last known address was Urbana Route 3.

SALES TAX RECEIPTS CONTINUE CLIMBING

Sales tax receipts continued to rise above 1942 levels in Pickaway county during the week ending May 15 when the state treasurer's office reported totals for 1943 to that date to be $28,983.92 compared with $26,980.39.

Sales for the week ending May 15 were $1,855.83, more than $100 ahead of 1942's $1,752.85 for the same week a year ago.

Number of chest examinations. Numerous cases of enlarged and diseased tonsils were examined. Two dog heads were examined at state laboratories for rabies after two persons were bitten. These persons received Pasteur treatment.

The health officer also reported a pre-school clinic in Washington township, and that the first case of diphtheria in two years had broken out.

Mrs. Effie Hill, county health nurse, also reported much activity during the month, listing work in communicable diseases, tuberculosis control, maternity service, infant hygiene, preschool hygiene, orthopedic service and personal conferences.

County School Pupils Make Good Showing In Scholarship Tests

Pickaway county school pupils who participated in the state scholarship examination conducted April 30 did very well, George D. McDowell, county superintendent, declared Thursday after a complete record was received of grades made by the pupils.

The examination was conducted in a different manner this year than heretofore, none of the pupils being sent to Columbus for the examination, the test being conducted in the various schools. Some schools did not participate in the state test this year.

Highest ranking pupils in the state were Hubert Whiting Paul, Jr., of Ottawa Hills, Lucas county, and Lois Ann Elmore, Akron Butcher. Paul scored 260 out of a possible 300 and Miss Elmore scored 247.

Following is the report made by Mr. McDowell concerning Pickaway county pupils:

New Holland school: Wilfred Henry Hupp, Biology I, 17th in district; Norman Gooley, Chemistry I, 13th in district; Elaine Stoker, English 9, honorable mention; Norman Gooley, American History, 12th in district, honorable mention in state; Dean Tarbill, American History, honorable mention in district; Wilfred Hupp, Latin 2, 6th in district, 25th in state.

Perry township: Samuel Bock, World History, honorable mention in district; Walter L. Hobbie, World History, 10th in district, honorable mention in state; John Woodrow Williams, general science, seventh in district, honorable mention in state.

Pickaway township: Roy Jenkins Jr., World History, 17th in district; Wayne Lee Bower, general science, honorable mention in district.

Saltcreek township: Anne Macklin, American History, honorable mention in district.

Chains are evidently of very ancient origin. Nearly all old writers speak of their use, and they are repeatedly spoken of in the Bible.

Bill Burry was reflecting back on the last war and what the boys used to do when they got a furlough.

"We weren't a hard-drinking bunch particularly, but that was in Prohibition," said Bill, "and forbidden fruit always seems worth goin' after. We'd hunt up a bootlegger, which was easy, and buy a bottle."

"So, instead of a beer or two, well—I guess we generally drank too much!... wonder what the boys are doing this time?"

Pennsylvania Railroad provides Station Canteens, Lounges or Special Facilities for Service Men in many Cities

Railroad stations these wartime days are crowded with men from all branches of the service. Some going to induction centers, some to advanced training camps, some to global fronts, some home on well-earned furloughs.

No matter how brief their stay is, the railroads want them to feel "at home."

So in a number of stations on the Pennsylvania Railroad, service men are welcomed to canteens, lounges and other facilities especially for them. At Union Stations, the Pennsylvania joins with other railroads in offering service men these facilities.

Here the service men may relax, write, eat, refresh

themselves, chat, play games... and, at a few, even sleeping quarters are provided. More than 6,000,000 men in uniform have been entertained or assisted in these centers since Pearl Harbor.

The facilities are operated by the USO (including the Travelers' Aid Society, the YMCA, the Salvation Army), the Women's Aid of the Pennsylvania Railroad, the American Legion or other local patriotic organizations.

With the splendid cooperation of these worthy groups, who give so generously of their time and money—the Pennsylvania Railroad will continue to make things as pleasant and comfortable as possible for the boys serving our Country.

STRIKES

THESE war-time strikes are not very extensive so far, when the vast scope of American industry is considered. Industrial workers on the whole have done, and are still doing, a great job. They carry the biggest share of war production not only for their own country but for the United Nations as a whole. Man for man and woman for woman, they are the most productive war workers in the world. They have done well and they are proud of their record.

All the more reason, then, why this magnificent industrial army should jealously maintain its record. Every strike, for whatever reason, means the loss of production, the lowering of efficiency and a lessening of respect for the striking groups.

For the public knows, as the strikers themselves must know, that such methods are unpatriotic and unnecessary. For every genuine industrial grievance there are peaceful ways to grant redress. Governmental machinery is established to handle such personnel problems, just as mechanical machinery is provided to do the work in the shops. And never in American industrial history has the government been so ready to cooperate with labor as it is today.

Because this is true, and because people know it is true, leaders and followers who strike arbitrarily and unnecessarily are making a great mistake. For a natural result of such action in war-time is public compulsion for government to use its powers for things that should be done voluntarily in a free country.

FOOD BANK

GOOD ideas are always turning up which have been thought of long ago and forgotten. This plan of an "international food bank" for example, proposed by the British delegation to the United Nations food conference in Virginia.

It would operate on a broad scale, but the idea itself is rather simple. There would be a world granary into which, from year to year, nations would put their surplus crops. All kinds of imperishable food could be stored in this way. All nations would contribute to it as they were able to do, and all nations would draw upon it when necessary. Once established with an adequate foundation stock, and with good management, it might run along from year to year and decade to decade very much like a solid savings bank which stores money for its depositors.

Certainly it is a good idea. It always was a good idea. The original test of it was made some 3,000 years ago, when a

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

PARADE FOR CHURCHILL

WASHINGTON—There was one very hush-hush conference staged for the benefit of Winston Churchill in Washington which was no military secret. It was a parade of beautiful models dressed in the latest New York fashions.

It came about when the Prime Minister asked Mrs. Harry Hopkins about the latest styles worn by American women. He said he would like to see some of them. So Mrs. Hopkins got Mrs. Averell Harriman and together they organized a fashion show.

Sending to New York for the latest gowns, they staged a private, ultra-exclusive fashion show for the Prime Minister of Britain, with the help of several imported models.

Churchill got quite a kick out of it. Friends say that his photographic mind will remember most of the details, and the first thing he will do when he gets back to London will be to tell Mrs. Churchill all about it.

"She's sure to ask me," he remarked, "just what the women are wearing in America."

EAGER JOHN L. LEWIS

Only insiders know it, but John L. Lewis wanted re-admission to the AFL so badly that he enclosed with his application a check for $60,000 advance dues.

He hoped to take his old friends by storm and win immediate admission. The AFL Executive Council was sitting at the time he sent the check, and would not meet again until August. Lewis hoped they would act pronto, so he could lay plans for throwing his weight around at the next AFL convention in October.

But quick admission of the Mine Workers was blocked partly by two independents inside the AFL, partly by the White House, where temperatures rose rapidly for fear Lewis, bitterly anti-New Deal, would swing the AFL away from cooperation, with the President.

Lewis had nursed his plan to rejoin the AFL for a long time. Recently, he had begun to feel deeply the public resentment against his coal strike, and also to feel the weakness of his position outside both of the big union organizations.

In trying to worm back inside the AFL, he used the good offices of Big Bill Hutcheson, boss of the Carpenters Union — and herein lay the greatest irony of the entire operation. For it was Hutcheson, now a willing emissary for John, who fell flat on his back under a blow from the fist of Lewis at the Atlantic City convention in 1935.

shrewd young Hebrew named Joseph proposed it to the Paraoah of Egypt, and its value was fully proved by experience. That experiment was merely applied to one country, whereas the present idea is to apply it to the whole world. But the idea is exactly the same, and perhaps world surpluses can be established now as easily as national surpluses could then.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE... Hour by Hour

Pages From the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:

Up to note that more rain had fallen during the night, the wagon out front glistening as though it had just been waxed, and that has not happened for a long time. Nary a washer or waxer have I been able to find recently. Inspected the garden and then met the morning print carrier boy. Read the paper over coffee and headed downtown. Every Wednesday afternoon with all the stores and banks closed I think the village looks deadlier than I ever have seen it, and then comes another Wednesday.

Mrs. Ward Robinson was instructing a First Aid class and in the class in which nine communities were represented. Someone asked about the Red Cross and the work it is doing and Mrs. Robinson explained. At the end of the session one class member approached her and handed over a $10 bill. "That's for the Red Cross," he declared. "The first time I understood it."

Ed Sensesbrenner asked for advice as to how to fasten ear muffs to a straw hat. Ed always is the first to wear ear muffs and generally is first to don his straw hat in the Spring.

Joe Adkins came in to pay for the classified ad on his missing dog. "The dog's home and no thanks to your advertising, either," Joe declared. "It didn't read the ad like you said about George Fitzpatrick's cow. And you can't get an advertising boost out of me. Nor a story." Joe's dog is a wire haired terrier. It was found curled on a porch swing by a north end man who recognized it as a pet. He knew Bob Musser has such a dog. So he called Bob and learned that the Musser dog was home. Then he scanned the classifieds, saw that Joe's dog was missing. He called Joe. I never would have said Joe's dog read these prints. I don't think it's as smart as George's cow.

And in came Clarence Helvering. Seems as though the scrivener erred when he suggested that the utilities be required to pay for repair work done on streets after they have been opened by the utilities. Clarence says they do, and he knows. That satisfactory, fellah?

Read that income tax story out of Washington and know as little about the workings as I did before. Seems as though someone will have to explain it to the tax experts so they can explain it to the financial writers so they can explain it to the people. All I was able to learn is that war is even more expensive than federal relief. But peace may come one day and that may set a new high record.

Remember Tom Tucker? Probably not, for he was just a kid of 12 when he left here in '82. Lived with Father Walker and one day when fishing with the priest at the dam's apron he caught the only salmon problem ever taken out of the Scioto. No explanation of how it got there. Knew a lot of persons then, but unable to find many acquaintances now. Ville and people changed. Tom is now serving his third term as Mayor of Tribune, Mo., is county Civilian Defense chairman and leader of the county's war bond campaigns. Attended the Rotary International meeting in St. Louis and enroute home swung this way to look over the old town.

Home in the late afternoon to fiddle about in the Victory Garden mud. Then in to dinner and an evening catching up on delayed reading. To bed at a reasonable hour, detouring to the ice box enroute. Nothing there to brag about these days.

War-time Heart Trouble Problem for Doctors

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

"The foeman bares his steel, Tarantara, tarantara! We uncomfortable feel! Tarantara! For when threatened with emeutes, Tarantara, tarantara! Our hearts are in our boots."

So sang the policeman in "The Pirates of Penzance," and I suppose every man and woman in our armed forces has had at one time

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

or the other something of these feelings. As a young fellow who had just made his first parachute jump said to me, "Anybody who tells you that he isn't scared when he jumps into the air on that first occasion is a liar."

The heart, second only to the stomach is affected by emotions. Fear, anxiety and apprehension that you will not measure up to your responsibility and duty are emotions, and since they are life in wartime, it is quite natural that we have problems for the heart specialist at this time.

The problems divide themselves into two groups: first, what heart conditions in the recruit are serious enough to warrant rejection for service; and, second, the treatment of the soldier who develops a nervous, irritable heart during active service.

Troubles of Heart Specialist

I have just read some of the troubles of a heart specialist assigned to a draft board; it takes me back to World War I. The two greatest problems were what to do with an apparently healthy recruit who had a pulse disturbance and what to do with the otherwise healthy recruit whose blood pressure was jumpy. Both of these things are, as a matter of common experience, affected by emotions.

Everybody has had the experience of having the heart pound when facing some crisis, major or minor, such as waiting to go in and ask for a job, getting up the nerve to propose marriage, walking down the aisle to get married, etc. Some people's hearts are more unstable than others, so we have the problem of the nervous young man who begins to have a fast heart rate whenever a medical examiner puts a stethoscope on his chest.

The normal pulse rate is 70 to a minute. What are they going to say about a fellow who has a rate of 120 persistently over many examinations? The question is: Will he calm down after he gets in service, or will he be a liability when the guns begin to shoot and the foeman bares his steel? The English are more hard-boiled than we are and will take nearly anybody who has a pulse rate of 120. Slow pulses are not so much of a problem; nearly any of these are acceptable.

Blood Pressure

Blood pressure is very much the same thing. It rises quickly and usually under emotion. The English have continuously taken men for active service who have a blood pressure of 180 or over.

The nervous heart of the soldier is an old story. It was described in detail by the Philadelphia physician, Dr. Costa, in our own Civil War; he called it irritable soldier's heart. In World War I we gave it a very fancy name, neuro-circulatory asthenia. All we can say about it is that some people in military life develop a permanent rapid pulse—up to 120 or 160—and are easily fatigued, nervous and irritable.

My own experience was that nothing could ever be done with them and that they had better be sent back to civil life. This, however, sets a bad precedent. Dr. Da Costa, in the Civil War time, felt that even though the treatment was long and troublesome, it was better to assign these men to some sort of duty than to return them to their homes.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

R. J.: I was examined for the Army and put in class 4-F on account of mitral stenosis. Please tell me what this is and how I got it.

Answer: Mitral stenosis is a form of valvular disease of the heart. It is caused by acute inflammatory rheumatism.

H. T. M.: What is the reason for night sweating and loss of weight in a man in his middle forties?

Answer: The chances are tuberculosis 95 per cent.

J. D. S.: Is it harmful for a woman 44 years of age to take six thyroid tablets of 1 grain each day for losing weight?

Answer: It certainly is. That is a tremendous dose. Why not diet?

SYNOPSIS

Notified that her brother, MELVIN MARSDEN, is missing in action.
JEAN MARSDEN, who has risen to the top as a fashion model, quits her job to become secretary to STEVE LANDIS, director of a new rubber plant in Mexico. Jean has an abrupt introduction to carefree, handsome
CURLEY, employed by
MR. AND MRS. PARKINSON, owners of the Rancho Carolina. Jean appears to have roused the jealousy of ROSITA, pretty little Mexican girl who is in love with Curley.

YESTERDAY: Jean receives a grim warning to let "Senior Curley alone or else."

CHAPTER TWELVE

JEAN HAD just laid a pile of finished letters on Steve's desk and had gone back to her typewriter when they both heard the roar of an airplane overhead. Steve shot Jean a searching look as he saw delicate color suddenly flush her cheeks. The roar, at first distant, no more than a drone really, grew louder and louder by the second, until it fairly shook the building as the plane almost grazed the roof of the office before sweeping on toward the rancho. Jean's first impulse was to run to the window, and then when she looked at Steve's face something held her to her chair. When the roar had faded to a distant drone again, Steve gave a short laugh of disgust.

"That guy would kill himself just for a laugh!"

Steve was doubly irritated, she knew, because Curley's stunting over the building was a salute to her. She guessed herself defending him. "I guess certain people are born without a sense of fear. Curley's like that."

"Why stop there?" Steve scoffed. "A sense of fear or a sense of anything else."

"Well, he has a sense of humor," Jean parried lightly. "I'll admit, a queer one at times."

Steve's eyes wandered over the neatly written pages of his letters, but he didn't know really what he had read. He had something on his mind, something that was crowding out all other thoughts. He glanced across at Jean who was lost in her work, his eyes following the perfect line of her profile, the soft sweep of her blond hair as it rose in a soft billow from her high forehead, the straight figure with delicately curving lines. Then he cleared his throat as if in warning of words that were to come. Jean had learned almost from the first day that this was a habit of Steve's when he had something of importance on his mind. Her rapidly flying fingers stopped and she turned to face him.

"I was just wondering," he began, "if I could help you move in your things tonight?"

For an instant Jean sensed this subtly. Why didn't he come right out in the open and ask her if she were moving back to the hotel? Then she pushed resentment aside and, with a casual tone to her voice, she answered, "Thanks anyway, but there's nothing left to move. I brought my clothes in this morning and dropped them at the hotel before I came to work." She couldn't help an inward smile at the pleased way that Steve muttered, "Oh, that's fine!"

For the next 30 minutes, until the quitting bell rang at 5 o'clock, Steve whistled a lively dance tune in low tones. Jean couldn't help but reflect what her father had told her a long time ago. "Grown folks are really big children. Basically, they aren't a bit different." Wasn't that just like a boy gloating over a small victory? He was happy now—now that he had gotten his own way!

The bell rang sharply. Jean finished the letter she was typing, straightened the things on her desk, repaired her makeup briskly and turned to leave. "Good night," she called over her shoulder as she left the room. She closed the door on Steve's "good night."

As she sped along in the company car over the winding desert road she felt a tenseness take possession of her—she felt as though she had suddenly been caught in opposing tides. She was glad Curley was back and yet she couldn't quite explain to herself why. Rosita was the one to be glad, and yet it was SHE who had received the non-sensical telegram. She MUST have been in his thoughts. This pleased her strangely, yet with that pleasure came a grim foreboding, a warning that she should forget this man. Put him out of her thoughts before he had secured a more treacherous hold on them!

She ran the car under the shade of a giant pepper tree at the side of the hotel and started up the worn stone steps to her little room. Every step was a supreme effort. A strange weariness kept pulling at her. She felt suddenly lost, let down in this land of romance. Romance! It sounded silly, empty now. Where was there any romance to this sun-baked land of the Aztecs? The closeness of her room, the bare walls, the sight of the old iron bed seemed to nauseate her. The walls to crowd in upon her and crush all the spirit from her tired body. She flung herself on the bed and fought to hold back a flood of tears. Nostalgic pictures flashed through her mind—pictures of Henri and his shop—the good times she had had in her work. Dances at the Rainbow Roof with her own crowd of friends, laughing and dancing to the sweet rhythm of a New York band.

She had been a fool to give all this up to come down here on an impulsive wave of patriotism! She was roused abruptly by the sound of footsteps on the stone steps. She rushed hot tears from her eyes as she waited. A knock on her door. She called, "Who is it?" But she knew, by the sharp, sudden pounding of her heart, who it was before the low, rich tones of his voice came through.

"Curley!" She got quickly to her feet, hurriedly swept a powder puff over her face, a touch of red to her lips and opened the door. Curley stood grinning, taking her all in from the tips of her brown suede pumps to the bright green bow nestled in her soft blond hair.

"I knew there was some reason why I wanted to get home, and now I remember—it was to see you," he said.

Jean was hoping the darkness of her room was hiding the flush she could read on her cheeks. "Mexico City didn't seem to dull that incorrigible line of yours," she scoffed.

"I was never more sincere in my life," Curley protested. "That's easy to believe, but we, you ever sincere in your life?"

"Well, how do you like that! Here I go away for three days that seem eternity and this is the kind of a homecoming I get." He gave her a sudden twinkling scrutiny. "Or were you crying for me?"

"Not tonight, but it's a charming idea. I must try it some time," Jean murmured.

"Thanks," cried Curley. "And now you're coming back to the rancho with me for our homecoming dinner—and no excuses!"

When Jean hesitated, he swept her up easily in his arms and carried her down the stone steps, Jean kicking and laughing at the same time. "Put me down, you fool! What will the neighbors think?"

"The neighbors, they will say, 'There is that crazy Americano again!'"

He tossed her into the front of his decrepit, sagging Fordage, and went around to climb over the door and under the steering wheel in one fluid motion. A dark curling lock of hair hung over one eye. The car started with a terrific wheezing roar, and they charged off down the narrow, cobblestoned street, with Curley waving and hallooing to half the town now lured out for the sight, while he tooted and shouted imprecations at the naked Mexican youngsters swarming in the road ahead.

Jean drew a laughing breath of relief when they had left the village behind and were lurching with crazy speed over the dusky desert road toward the rancho. With the sigh she realized her feeling of depressing hopelessness was gone, a sense of joyous peace stealing over her.

Curley raised his head in a long, happy shout that reverberated through the hills. Then he turned to her, dark eyes flashing in a look that brought the blood to her cheeks. His voice was low, almost brooding. "Now I've got you with me, the rest of the universe can go hang."

"Will you watch the road?" cried Jean. She had to have time to regain her control. For, in that sp second when her eyes looked into his, her heart had helplessly echoed his words!

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND
By DREW PEARSON

PARADE FOR CHURCHILL
WASHINGTON — There was one very hush-hush conference staged for the benefit of Winston Churchill in Washington which was no military secret. It was a parade of beautiful models dressed in the latest New York fashions.

It came about when the Prime Minister asked Mrs. Harry Hopkins about the latest styles worn by American women. He said he would like to see some of them. So Mrs. Hopkins got Mrs. Averell Harriman and together they organized a fashion show.

Sending to New York for the latest gowns, they staged a private, ultra-exclusive fashion show for the Prime Minister of Britain, with the help of several imported models.

Churchill got quite a kick out of it. Friends say that his photographic mind will remember most of the details, and the first thing he will do when he gets back to London will be to tell Mrs. Churchill all about it.

"She's sure to ask me," he remarked, "just what the women are wearing in America."

STRIKES
THESE war-time strikes are not very extensive so far, when the vast scope of American industry is considered. Industrial workers on the whole have done, and are still doing, a great job. They carry the biggest share of war production not only for their own country but for the United Nations as a whole. Man for man and woman for woman, they are the most productive war workers in the world. They have done well and they are proud of their record.

All the more reason, then, why this magnificent industrial army should jealously maintain its record. Every strike, for whatever reason, means the loss of production, the lowering of efficiency and a lessening of respect for the striking groups.

For the public knows, as the strikers themselves must know, that such methods are unpatriotic and unnecessary. For every genuine industrial grievance there are peaceful ways to grant redress. Governmental machinery is established to handle such personnel problems, just as mechanical machinery is provided to do the work in the shops. And never in American industrial history has the government been so ready to cooperate with labor as it is today.

Because this is true, and because people know it is true, leaders and followers who strike arbitrarily and unnecessarily are making a great mistake. For a natural result of such action in war-time is public compulsion for government to use its war powers for things that should be done voluntarily in a free country.

FOOD BANK
GOOD ideas are always turning up which have been thought of long ago and forgotten. This plan of an "international food bank" for example, proposed by the British delegation to the United Nations food conference in Virginia.

It would operate on a broad scale, but the idea itself is rather simple. There would be a world granary into which, from year to year, nations would put their surplus crops. All kinds of perishable food could be stored in this way. All nations would contribute to it as they were able to do, and all nations would draw upon it when necessary. Once established with an adequate foundation stock, and with good management, it might run along from year to year and decade to decade very much like a solid savings bank which stores money for its depositors.

Certainly it is a good idea. It always was a good idea. The original test of it was made some 3,000 years ago, when a

EAGER JOHN L. LEWIS
Only insiders know it, but John L. Lewis wanted re-admission to the AFL so badly that he enclosed with his application a check for $60,000 advance dues.

He hoped to take his old friends by storm and win immediate admission. The AFL Executive Council was sitting at the time he sent the check, and would not meet again until August. Lewis hoped they would act pronto, so he could lay plans for throwing his weight around at the next AFL convention in October.

But quick admission of the Mine Workers was blocked partly by two independents inside the AFL, partly by the White House, where temperatures rose rapidly for fear Lewis, bitterly anti-New Deal, would swing the AFL away from cooperation, with the President.

Lewis had nursed his plan to rejoin the AFL for a long time. Recently, he had begun to feel deeply the public resentment against his coal strike, and also to feel the weakness of his position outside both of the big union organizations.

In trying to worm back inside the AFL, he used the good offices of Big Bill Hutcheson, boss of the Carpenters Union — and herein lay the greatest irony of the entire operation. For it was Hutcheson, now a willing emissary for John, who fell flat on his back under a blow from the fist of Lewis at the Atlantic City convention in 1935.

shrewd young Hebrew named Joseph proposed it to the Paraph of Egypt, and its value was fully proved by experience. That experiment was merely applied to one country, whereas the present idea is to apply it to the whole world. But the idea is exactly the same, and perhaps world surpluses can be established now as easily as national surpluses could then.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE.... Hour by Hour

Pages From the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:
Up to note that more rain had fallen during the night, the wagon out front glistening as though it had just been waxed, and that has not happened for a long time. Nary a washer or waxer have I been able to find recently. Inspected the garden and then met the morning print carrier boy. Read the paper over coffee and headed downtown. Every Wednesday afternoon with all the stores and banks closed I think the ville looks deadlier than I ever have seen it, and then comes another Wednesday.

Mrs. Ward Robinson was instructing a First Aid class and in the class in which nine communities were represented. Someone asked about the Red Cross and the work it is doing and Mrs. Robinson explained. At the end of the session one class member approached her and handed over a $10 bill. "That's for the Red Cross," he declared. "The first time I understood it."

Ed Sensesbrenner asked for advice as to how to fasten ear muffs to a straw hat. Ed always is the first to wear ear muffs and generally is first to don his straw hat in the Spring.

Joe Adkins came in to pay for the classified ad on his missing dog. "The dog's home and no thanks to your advertising, either," Joe declared. "It didn't read the ad like you said about George Fitzpatrick's cow. And you can't get an advertising boost out of me. Nor a story." Joe's dog is a wire haired terrier. It was found curled on a porch swing by a north end man who recognized it as a pet. He knew Bob Musser has such a dog. So he called Bob and learned that the Musser dog was home. Then he scanned the class ads, saw that Joe's dog was missing. He called Joe. I never would have said Joe's dog read these prints. I don't think it's as smart as George's cow.

And in came Clarence Helverling. Seems as though the scrivener erred when he suggested that the utilities be required to pay for repair work done on streets after they have been opened by the utilities. Clarence says they do, and he knows. That satisfactory, fellah?

Read that income tax story out of Washington and know a little about the workings as I did before. Seems as though someone will have to explain it to the tax experts so they can explain it to the financial writers so they can explain it to the people. All I was able to learn is that war is even more expensive than federal relief. But peace may come one day and that may set a new high record.

Remember Tom Tucker? Probably not, for he was just a kid of 12 when he left here in '82. Lived with Father Walker and one day when fishing with the priest at the dam's apron he caught the only salmon probably ever taken out of the Scioto. No explanation of how it got there. Knew a lot of persons then, but unable to find many acquaintances now. Ville and people changed. Tom is now serving his third term as Mayor of Tribune, Mo., is county Civilian Defense chairman and leader of the county's war bond campaigns. Attended the Rotary International meeting in St. Louis and enroute home swung this way to look over the old town.

Home in the late afternoon to fiddle about in the Victory Garden mud. Then in to dinner and an evening catching up on delayed reading. To bed at a reasonable hour, detouring to the ice box enroute. Nothing there to brag about these days.

War-time Heart Trouble Problem for Doctors

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
"When the foeman bares his steel, Tarantara, tarantara! We uncomfortable feel! Tarantara! For when threatened with emetics, Tarantara, tarantara! Our hearts are in our boots." So sang the policeman in "The Pirates of Penzance," and I suppose every man and woman in our armed forces has had at one time or the other something of these feelings. As a young fellow who had just made his first parachute jump said to me, "Anybody who tells you that he isn't scared when he jumps into the air on that first occasion is a liar."

The heart, second only to the stomach is affected by emotions. Fear, anxiety and apprehension to your responsibility and duty are emotions, and since they are rife in war-time, it is quite natural that we have problems for the heart specialist at this time.

The problems divide themselves into two groups: first, what heart conditions in the recruit are serious enough to warrant rejection for service; and, second, the treatment of the soldier who develops a nervous, irritable heart during active service.

Troubles of Heart Specialist
I have just read some of the troubles of a heart specialist assigned to a draft board; it takes me back to World War I. The two greatest problems were what to do with an apparently healthy recruit who had a pulse disturbance and what to do with the otherwise healthy recruit whose blood pressure was jumpy. Both of these things are, as a matter of common experience, affected by emotions.

Everybody has had the experience of having the heart pound when facing some crisis, major or minor, such as waiting to go in and ask for a job, getting up the nerve to propose marriage, walking down the aisle to get married, etc., etc. Some people's hearts are more unstable than others, so we have the problem of the nervous young man who begins to have a fast heart rate whenever a medical examiner puts a stethoscope on his chest.

The normal pulse rate is 70 to a minute. What are they going to say about a fellow who has a rate of 120 persistently over many examinations? The question is: Will he calm down after he gets in service, or will he be a liability when the guns begin to shoot and the foeman bares his steel? The English are more hard-boiled than we are and will take nearly anybody who has a pulse rate of 120. Slow pulses are not so much of a problem; nearly any of these are acceptable.

Blood Pressure
Blood pressure is very much the same thing. It rises quickly and usually under emotion. The English have continuously taken men for active service who have a blood pressure of 180 or over.

The nervous heart of the soldier is an old story. It was described in detail by the Philadelphia physician, Dr. Costa, in our own Civil War; he called it irritable soldier's heart. In World War I we gave it a very fancy name, neuro-circulatory asthenia. All we can say about it is that some people in military life develop a permanently rapid pulse—up to 120 or 160—and are easily fatigued, nervous and irritable.

My own experience was that nothing could ever be done with them and that they had better be sent back to civil life. This, however, sets a bad precedent. Dr. Da Costa, in the Civil War time, felt that even though the treatment was long and troublesome, it would be better to assign these men to some sort of duty than to return them to their homes.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Notified that her brother, MELVIN MARSDEN, is missing in action, JEAN MARSDEN, who has risen to the top as a fashion model, quits her job to become secretary to STEVE LANDIS, director of a new rubber plant in Mexico. Jean has an abstruse introduction to carefree, handsome CURLEY, employed by MR. AND MRS. PARKINSON, owners of the Rancho Carolina. Jean appears to have roused the jealousy of ROSITA, pretty little Mexican girl who is in love with Curley.

CHAPTER TWELVE
JEAN had just laid a pile of finished letters on Steve's desk and had gone back to her typewriter when they both heard the roar of an airplane overhead. Steve shot Jean a searching look as he saw delicate color suddenly flush her cheeks. The roar, at first distant, more than a drone really, grew louder and louder by the second, until it fairly shook the building as the plane almost grazed the roof of the office before sweeping on to toward the rancho. Jean's first impulse was to run to the window, and then when she looked at Steve's face something held her to her chair. When the roar had faded to a distant drone again, Steve gave a short laugh of disgust.

"That guy would kill himself just for a laugh!"

Steve was doubly irritated, she knew, because Curley's stunting over the building was a salute to her. She found herself defending him. "I guess certain people are born without a sense of fear. Curley's like that."

"Why stop there?" Steve scoffed. "A sense of fear or a sense of anything else."

"Well, he has a sense of humor," Jean parried lightly. "I'll admit, a queer one at times."

Steve's eyes wandered over the neatly written pages of his letters, but he didn't know really what he had read. He had something on his mind, something that was crowding out all other thoughts. He glanced across at Jean who was lost in her work, his eyes following the perfect line of her profile, the soft sweep of her blond hair as it rose in a soft billow from her high forehead, the straight figure with delicately curving lines. Then he cleared his throat as if in warning of words that were to come. Jean had learned almost from the first day that this was a habit of Steve's when he had something of importance on his mind. Her rapidly flying fingers stopped and she turned to face him.

"I was just wondering," he began, "if I could help you move in your things tonight?"

I brought my clothes in this morning and dropped them at the hotel before I came to work." She couldn't help an inward smile at the pleased way that Steve muttered, "Oh, that's fine!"

For the next 30 minutes, until the quelling bell rang at 5 o'clock, Steve whistled a lively dance tune in low tones. Jean couldn't help but reflect what her father had told her a long time ago, "Grown folks are really big children. Basically, they aren't a bit different." Wasn't that just like a boy gloating over a small victory? He was happy now—now that he had gotten his own way!

Naval Officers Speak At Altar Society Meet

Need For More Recruits Is Stressed

Altar society of St. Joseph's Catholic church presented Lieutenant Frank A. Duffy and Ensign Verona James of the U. S. Navy recruiting service in fine talks Wednesday at the meeting of the society in the Recreation Center of the church. The meeting was open to the public and about 50 joined the members at the close of the business hour.

In stirring talks stressing the need for more men and women to join the navy, the two speakers laid out the various requirements for enlistment.

Ensign James interested the women of the audience with her concise picture of the various steps followed in enlisting, in basic training and in assignment to regular duty at the end of the training period.

She discussed the reluctance of young women in giving up positions for what they considered less pay as members of the WAVES or SPARS. She told of the provisions made for clothing, housing and training enlistees and showed that all this came to them at no cost to themselves and that the $50 per month pay was clear. She questioned if the majority of young women in what they considered good positions could clear this amount after living expenses were deducted from seemingly excellent salaries. Ensign James also brought to the attention of the audience the basic fact of the organization, that of releasing men for the battle front and for service over seas. She explained that enlistment in the WAVES was for duty in this country only.

The two speakers were presented by the Rev. Fr. E. J. Reidy at the close of the short business session of the Altar society.

Mrs. Thomas Lake, president of the organization, led discussion of plans for monthly congregational picnics during the summer months. Twenty-five members were present.

Pole Lima Beans Profitable in Victory Garden

BECAUSE POLE lima beans are prolific producers, it is profitable to plant them in the Victory garden. It should be remembered, however, that they require a richer soil than bush beans. Only one planting of pole lima beans is necessary, for they will continue to bear all through the season.

Pole lima beans can be planted in rows or hills. If the beans are to be planted in hills, remove one or two shovelfuls of soil and put a shovelful of manure in the hole. Cover the manure with soil and then hill up the rest of the soil to a height of four to six inches. Plant six or eight seeds in each hill. When the young plants attain a height of four inches thin them out, leaving only the four sturdiest plants. Pole limas are rank growers and require strong supports. The poles used should not be less than 12 feet tall with about 15 inches of the pole set firmly into the soil, as illustrated. Rough-barked poles aid the vines in clinging.

When the vegetable garden is located in a windy area, additional strength for pole limas can be obtained by letting them climb on a wigwam of poles, as illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph. Four poles should be set on a slant, as illustrated, with the lower end of each stake or pole resting near a hill of the beans. Such a wigwam of poles when bolted or tied together at the top and set firmly in the ground is not apt to be blown over during a wind storm.

Pole Lima Beans Profitable in Victory Garden

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Released by Central Press Association

BECAUSE POLE lima beans are prolific producers, it is profitable to plant them in the Victory garden. It should be remembered, however, that they require a richer soil than bush beans. Only one planting of pole lima beans is necessary, for they will continue to bear all through the season.

Pole lima beans can be planted in rows or hills. If the beans are to be planted in hills, remove one or two shovelfuls of soil and put a shovelful of manure in the hole. Cover the manure with soil and then hill up the rest of the soil to a height of four to six inches. Plant six or eight seeds in each hill. When the young plants attain a height of four inches thin them out, leaving only the four sturdiest plants.

Pole limas are rank growers and require strong supports. The poles used should not be less than 12 feet tall with about 15 inches of the pole set firmly into the soil, as illustrated. Rough-barked poles aid the vines in clinging.

When the vegetable garden is located in a windy area, additional strength for pole limas can be obtained by letting them climb on a wigwam of poles, as illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph. Four poles should be set on a slant, as illustrated, with the lower end of each stake or pole resting near a hill of the beans. Such a wigwam of poles when bolted or tied together at the top and set firmly in the ground is not apt to be blown over during a wind storm.

NEW OPA RULE BRINGS CUT IN POTATO PRICE

Shoppers and producers alike are assisted by the Office of Price Administration in a new rule on potatoes which cuts the price to the buyer slightly and boosts the price paid to the farmer who produces them.

Price Administrator Prentiss Brown has ordered a seven percent cut in consumer prices and a 30 cents per hundred pounds increase to producers. Markups by wholesalers were held to 60 cents a hundred pounds.

Potato supply remains short on the local market, several stores being without supplies Thursday. Other local business houses have had supplies of potatoes part of the time.

At the same time that it changed its potato regulations the OPA modified onion prices, permitting a markup of 40 cents per 50 pounds. A savings, yet to be determined, will be passed on to consumers.

BIKE LICENSES NOW AVAILABLE AT CITY HALL

New bicycle licenses, numbering 750, have been received by Police Chief W. F. McCrady, who is distributing them to Circleville cycle riders at cost of 25 cents each.

The licenses were ordered in time for January 1, but have just arrived, the chief said. Bicycle owners are urged to appear at city hall Saturday to obtain their new permits. The chief urges that all cyclists report before 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Dwight Radcliff, son of Sheriff and Mrs. Charles Radcliff, obtained tag No. 1 Wednesday afternoon.

NO SECRETS IN MEXICO

It can now be revealed that Secret Service agents had a lot of trouble keeping the President's visit to Mexico a secret. In fact, practically every literate Mexican knew or thought he knew what was going to happen. The American press kept the secret and most of the American public was in the dark. But not the Mexicans.

The tip-off was President A. J. Camacho's public request for Congressional permission to leave the country "for not more than 72 hours." This made it clear that he was not going to Washington. And it was not hard to guess that if he crossed the border, he would be met by no less than his opposite number, the President of the United States.

Another tip-off was the fact that Avila Camacho arrived in Monterrey three days in advance of the meeting, while Mexican newspapers were allowed to speculate freely.

No wonder Mike Reilly was worried. Reilly, chief of the White House Secret Service detail, had gone to Monterrey in advance, to smell out any danger spots. He had a tip that certain hardware firms in the city were run by Germans, and hardware stores handle arms and ammunition. Also he was fearful of the shaky road-bed of the Mexican railroad between the border and Monterrey.

Every mile of the line was carefully checked by an official of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, and as for the hardware stores, Reilly found that they had been dry-cleaned by the Mexican Government after Mexico's declaration of war.

In making inspections, Reilly worked closely with General Eugenio Ortiz, former chief-of-staff for Pancho Villa, and a great admirer of General MacArthur. It is General Ortiz' ambition to be sent to Australia to serve with MacArthur.

WALTER PIDGEON GUESTS

Charlie McCarthy has invited Walter Pidgeon to guest with him Sunday, May 30, at 7 p. m. over NBC. Though Pidgeon is one of Hollywood's top-flight stars, Charlie insists that he is the "forgotten man" because he was Mr. Miniver.

Having unsuccessfully sounded out the possibilities of getting into the movie industry last week with Charles Boyer, Charlie will try his luck again with Walter Pidgeon. Charlie seems to fancy he would like to take a chance at musical comedy. Since Pidgeon got his start singing in musical comedy, the young wooden-head will attempt to get his instructions and advice on how to become a singing star from him.

On hand to lend the musical lifts to the program will be Ray Noble and his orchestra, featuring pretty songstress Dale Evans.

LARAIN IS GUEST

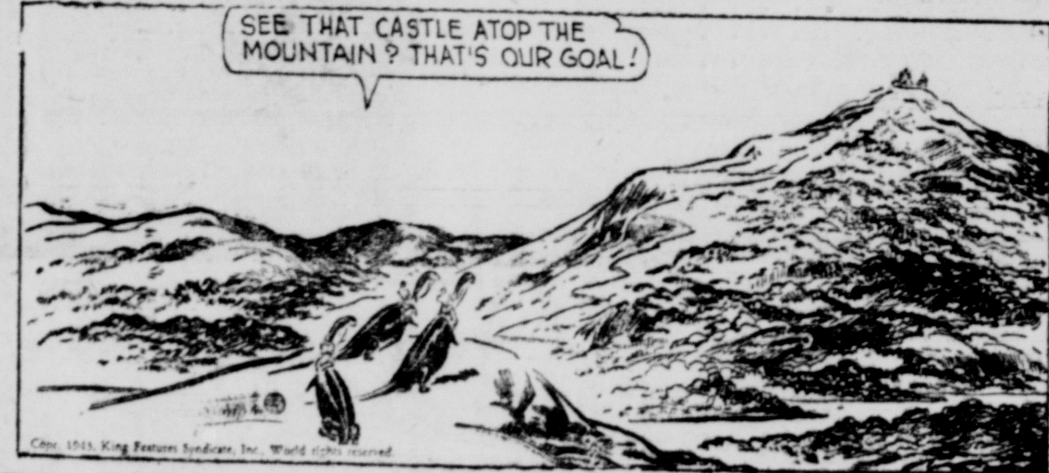

Beautiful Laraine Day, of "Dr. Kildare" and more recent "Journey for Margaret" fame, will join dancing George Murphy and veteran Charles Coburn to star in RKO's "The Devil and Miss Jones" on Monday, June 7, for the "Screen Guild Players" radio version. Mr. Coburn, Jean Arthur and Bob Cummings did the film, released in 1941, whose story concerns two romancing department store clerks who set out to reform their employer and get better working conditions only to be surprised to learn that he, the owner, is in cahoots with them!

"THE MAJOR AND MINOR"

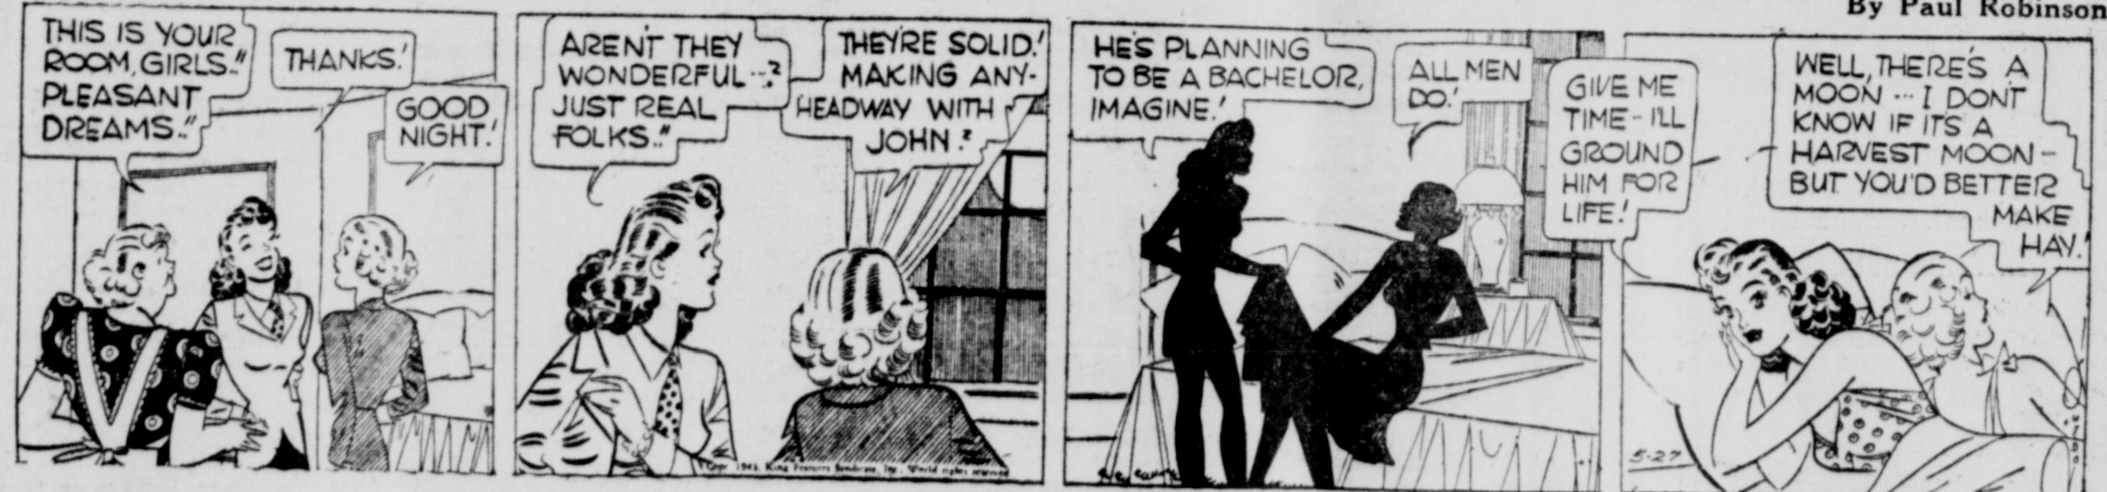

"The Major and the Minor," the romantic comedy with a slightly different twist will be presented on the Radio Theatre Monday, May 31, at 8 p. m. over the Columbia network. Cecil B. DeMille has cast Ginger Rogers and Ray Milland in the stellar roles, with Diana Lynn in a featured supporting role.

Things start to happen and at a pretty fast pace when a certain homesick young lady finds herself short of the necessary cash for train fare back to Iowa. Ginger Rogers portrays the hapless young woman who solves her knotty problem by donning little girl clothes and riding home for half-fare.

Ray Milland is the handsome young Major who takes a protective interest in the minor's journey, much to the annoyance of his jealous fiancée who suspects the little girl is a big girl. Diana Lynn

NEW CAST MEMBER

Ten-year-old Patsy O'Shea, who was "Little Miss RCA" of the World's Fair, is the latest cast member to join "Joyce Jordan, M. D." in the role of Donny over CBS daily at 1:15 p. m.

CRIPPLES HAPPY

Twenty-five crippled youths and girls from the ages sixteen to twenty-five came to last Monday's CBS "Blondie" show from the Glendale Sanatorium and were specially entertained by Penny "Blondie" Singleton and Arthur "Dagwood" Lake following the performance.

Although she was too busy, earlier, what with camp shows and her broadcasts with Tommy Riggs and Betty Lou, to plant a Victory Garden, Songstress Anita has at last caught up with that patriotic vogue. An over-ambitious friend planted his vegetables too close together for them to flourish, so Anita "adopted" nearly half of the friend's partly grown peas and broccoli, is now well on the way to harvesting a crop of her own.

Soprano star Nadine Conner, of the NBC Tuesday night "Salute To Youth" program, became a singer at the age of 14 on the advice of her doctor! Her stomach muscles were weak and the doctor recommended singing as the cure—never dreaming it would lead to a professional career that was climaxed when she became a star of radio and the Metropolitan Opera!

Milo Boulton just barely reached the "We, the People" mike on time recently. The waiting line for a nearby motion picture theatre extended across the entrance of the CBS Radio Theatre where the program originates and Milo, had quite a time convincing those in line that he merely wanted to pass through and not get ahead of them.

Final Appeal Made For Local Donations To Blood Bank

300 VOLUNTEERS NEEDED TO FILL COUNTY QUOTA

Scores Of Men And Women Sign, But Many More Are Requested

R. C. UNIT HERE TWO DAYS

Methodist Church Again To Be Scene Of War Aid Program

Final appeal for volunteers to donate blood when the Franklin county Red Cross blood mobile unit comes to Circleville next Monday and Tuesday was voiced Thursday by the Pickaway county Red Cross chapter.

With 300 donors needed during the two-day visit of the mobile unit, the Red Cross chapter reports that more volunteers must submit their names if the mobile unit is to obtain the number of pints of valuable blood it seeks during its visit here.

During the first visit of the unit in March 240 pints were needed, but facilities of the mobile unit have been expanded so that 300 pints can be taken in a two day project. The amount of blood taken from Circleville in March was nearly 270 pints, the mobile outfit operating at a fast pace and receiving splendid cooperation from donors and workers who appeared at the Methodist church to help during the two days.

Mrs. A. Hulse Hays is in charge of registrations, and she voiced an appeal Thursday for more donors. "We have nearly enough persons signed up," she said, "to take care of our obligations, but we are hoping to have names of many more in case of last-minute cancellations."

Persons wishing to volunteer to give blood should telephone No. 408, the Red Cross headquarters, or No. 258, residence of Mrs. Hays. Cards will be mailed to all persons who volunteer, informing them of the exact hour they are to report at the Methodist church. "We feel certain," Carl Leist, Red Cross chairman, pointed out Thursday, "that if Circleville and Pickaway county persons realized the good that is being done with plasma made from these blood donations that we would be swamped by persons who wish to give blood."

Medical men and soldiers who have returned from fields of action are unanimous in their declarations that thousands of lives of wounded men have been saved through transfusions made from blood plasma donated by the people back home.

The Red Cross unit will be stationed at the Methodist church again, the Monday visit to be from noon until 4:45 p. m., and the Tuesday visit from 9:45 a. m. to 3 p. m. All times are Central War Time.

RIVER FALLING AFTER REACHING 10.5 FOOT STAGE

Scioto river was falling Thursday after flood waters started to pour Wednesday into extreme lowland areas. The river reached a stage of 10.5 feet during Wednesday before it started to recede.

Another 11 of an inch of rain fell Wednesday night, boosting month's total nearer the six inch mark. The total rain so far this month is 5.83 inches.

Final Appeal Made For Local Donations To Blood Bank

300 VOLUNTEERS NEEDED TO FILL COUNTY QUOTA

Scores Of Men And Women Sign, But Many More Are Requested

R. C. UNIT HERE TWO DAYS

Methodist Church Again To Be Scene Of War Aid Program

Final appeal for volunteers to donate blood when the Franklin county Red Cross blood mobile unit comes to Circleville next Monday and Tuesday was voiced Thursday by the Pickaway county Red Cross chapter.

With 300 donors needed during the two-day visit of the mobile unit, the Red Cross chapter reports that more volunteers must submit their names if the mobile unit is to obtain the number of pints of valuable blood it seeks during its visit here.

During the first visit of the unit in March 240 pints were needed, but facilities of the mobile unit have been expanded so that 300 pints can be taken in a two day project. The amount of blood taken from Circleville in March was nearly 270 pints, the mobile outfit operating at a fast pace and receiving splendid cooperation from donors and workers who appeared at the Methodist church to help during the two days.

Mrs. A. Hulse Hays is in charge of registrations, and she voiced an appeal Thursday for more donors. "We have nearly enough persons signed up," she said, "to take care of our obligations, but we are hoping to have names of many more in case of last-minute cancellations."

Persons wishing to volunteer to give blood should telephone No. 408, the Red Cross headquarters, or No. 258, residence of Mrs. Hays. Cards will be mailed to all persons who volunteer, informing them of the exact hour they are to report at the Methodist church. "We feel certain," Carl Leist, Red Cross chairman, pointed out Thursday, "that if Circleville and Pickaway county persons realized the good that is being done with plasma made from these blood donations that we would be swamped by persons who wish to give blood."

Medical men and soldiers who have returned from fields of action are unanimous in their declarations that thousands of lives of wounded men have been saved through transfusions made from blood plasma donated by the people back home.

The Red Cross unit will be stationed at the Methodist church again, the Monday visit to be from noon until 4:45 p. m., and the Tuesday visit from 9:45 a. m. to 3 p. m. All times are Central War Time.

Warren H. Baker, commander of Howard Hall post, American Legion, and Jack Chester, commander of Henry Page Folsom post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be officers of the day. Dr. B. R. Bales, Bryan Custer and Ed Keyes will be parade marshals.

Members of the flag committee are Mack Parrett, Jr., chairman; William J. Betts, Henry Mason, Fred Donnelly, Charles E. Roof, Howard Irwin, James Fouch, Delbert Fuller, Floyd Dean, Earl A. Smith and James Cook.

Daughters of Union veterans are in charge of flowers and Daughters of American Revolution will arrange transportation for persons unable to walk to the cemetery.
